

IT'S PICNIC TIME!

Thanks to Romulus Rotarians

By BOB COCHRANE
Editor of the Roman

Hoping for similar success enjoyed last year, members of the Romulus Rotary Club are completing plans for their second annual community-wide picnic to be held Aug. 15 at Elmer Johnson Park.

The event will get under way at noon and continue until 6 p.m., according to Picnic Chairman Doug Baum.

"We (Rotary) were extremely happy with the way residents of the community turned out last year, and we just hope as many or more join together for fun and games this year," he said.

A highlight (?) of the 6-hour bash will be a softball game (?) between members of the Romulus Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. The Rotarians are seeking a measure of revenge this year after being vanquished during the first annual outing.

Also on tap are games and activities for persons of all ages, and refreshments such as hot dogs, soft drinks and beer may be purchased.

All proceeds from the picnic will be funneled into the Rotarians' charitable and civic projects, of which there are many.

For example, during the past year the Romulus Rotary Club:

- Sponsored the high school football team's annual pre-practice physical fitness tests.

- Donated a wheelchair to the Romulus senior citizens' organization.

- Helped sponsor an ecological trip to northern Michigan for 66 South Junior High School eighth graders.

- Supported Romulus Little League football and baseball and women's softball.

- Donated funds to help crippled and autistic children.

- Sponsored Boy and Girl Scout troops.

- Provided funds to the Detroit area Boy Scout council.

- Turned over money to the Romulus Help Center to be used to purchase food for needy families.

- Sponsored the YWCA's pre-school nursery program.

- Presented savings bonds to outstanding senior high school boys and girls to help further their education.

And those are just some of the things the local Rotarians can be proud of. Baum said the group also filled many other requests last year from organizations and individuals.

Dogged detective smashes burglary ring; 17 arrested

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

After better than three months of investigation, a Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol detective has made 17 arrests clearing up at least 31 burglaries in one Romulus subdivision.

Det. Edward Lindberg reports that 13 juveniles and four adults have been charged with various offenses relating to a rash of breakins and vandalism in Romulus' Castle Subdivision, west of Huron River Drive and south of Wabash Street in Romulus. He said losses and damages amounted to $50,000.

Already charged and arraigned for burglary are Scott Wade Whaling, 17, of 36643 Goddard Road; David Joseph Wilson, 18, of 37626 Walnut Street; and David Vincent Garcia, 17, of 13624 Huron River Drive. Being sought in connection with the charges is another 18-year-old who reportedly fled to Ohio to escape arrest.

The names of the 13 juveniles involved in the incidents were not released, however, Lindberg reports that the youngest individual involved was 7 years old and that two 15 year olds apparently were the leaders of the loose-knit burglary ring.

According to Lindberg, the individuals involved in the ring acted in groups of at least two, breaking into occupied dwellings which were generally left vacant for a day. One or more of the youths involved would smash a window at the rear of the house, and open doors for the remaining burglars, who would both rob and vandalize the dwelling.

Incidents usually occurred between noon and 2 a.m., and generally centered on dwellings which backed up to a vacant field.

At least 31 incidents have been reported in the same area of the city since June, 1975, and Lindberg believes the gang may have been involved in more unreported incidents involving residents who moved out of their homes.

Members of the ring were male, however two run-away juvenile girls were tied in with the group.

If the group determined a home would be left vacant for several days or weeks after their burglary, they'd install the two run-away girls as temporary tenants, the detective said. During the time the two females occupied the dwelling, they'd engage in malicious destruction of property.

According to Lindberg, the "tenants" caused damages estimated at $6,000 to one home alone.

All but one of the members of the group has been arraigned on the burglary charges, which for adults, carries a maximum of 15 years in prison. However, each member also is back on the streets.

One of the adults arraigned on the charges has been returned to the sheriff's department after being caught in an alleged burglary only days after his arraignment.

"We have a case here of juveniles being involved in what are vicious crimes, and yet, they're back on the streets," Lindberg said. "In many individual cases, the persons brought before us have had five to seven contacts with this department during the past few years—and they're still back on the street."

The investigation into the spate of burglaries is expanding into other areas, particularly into the "fencing" or resale of stolen goods.

Lindberg reports that a 17-year-old youth not directly involved in the burglary of the dwellings, was traced after several of the accused burglars indicated they had sold him stolen goods, which were then resold on "the open market" to law abiding citizens.

The 17-year-old implicated in the fencing scheme has pleaded guilty to an unrelated charge involving narcotics, according to Lindberg.

Other leads are being pursued, including the possibility of another adult acting as a fence in the incident and the further possibility that two Romulus businesses are being used as a "front" for the resale of the goods taken in the Castle Subdivision burglaries.

However, despite checking the route the stolen goods took after being removed from their owners, the recovery rate of the property is very poor, according to Lindberg.

"I'd say in 95 percent of the cases, the property just hasn't been recovered," Lindberg said. "Once it leaves the hands of the fence, it's difficult to trace."

Goods taken in the burglaries included firearms, stereo components, clothing, jewelry, coin collections, electronic gear, including televisions, and other valuables which can be resold easily.

"We know the goods have been dispersed quite a distance," Lindberg said. "In one instance, we learned that a firearm stolen from the Castle Subdivision was used in northern Michigan by a youth who threatened to shoot his girl friend."

Troutt scores big in city

Romulus voters generally followed the trend throughout Wayne County by opting for the Democratic incumbents in most races, except that of the Wayne County drain commissioner.

As could be expected, Romulus voters went almost 3-1 in favor of their "favorite son" Terry L. Troutt by giving him 967 votes to Charles N. Youngblood's 392 votes in balloting for the county drain post.

Troutt is a former supervisor and mayor of the community, and also served as Romulus' state representative for one term.

In other balloting, the voters followed the trend in Wayne County, and Michigan, by voting for Donald W. Riegle Jr. as the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat held by Philip Hart. On the Republican side of the ledger, Marvin L. Esch outpolled his three rivals in Romulus.

On the state level, both Riegle and Esch were projected as the winners in the Senate race.

Riegle scored 737 votes, to Richard Austin's 572, James G. O'Hara's 407 and James L. Elsmann's 77 in Romulus. Esch scored 118 votes to Thomas E. Brennan's 63, Robert J. Huber's 35 and Deane Baker's 31 in Romulus.

In the State Representative race for Romulus' 38th District, incumbent Democrat Edward E. Mahalak, a former Romulus justice of the peace, outdistanced James R. Bruce 939 votes to 499, while Russell H. Skidgell scored 69 votes, and Edgar R. Nieton, the lone Republican, polled 133.

Gary M. Owen, whose 22nd District in the House of Representatives includes two Romulus precincts, scored 128 votes on the Democratic ballot to Roger E. Baldwin's 22 votes on the Republican ledger. Neither candidate had opposition.

In the Wayne County commissioner's race for Romulus' 26th District, incumbent Democrat Edgar L. Harris polled 962 votes to Donald L. Zub's 662.

Republican Dorothy M. Rush, who ran unopposed, polled 188 votes.

Voters in the city apparently also favor the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol for which they contract for police protection, as they gave incumbent County Sheriff William Lucas an overwhelming victory over challengers Robert L. Harbour and Julius M. Vida.

Democrat Lucas polled 1,243 votes to Harbour's 396 and Vida's 121.

In the 15th District Congressional race, where incumbent Democrat William D. Ford is unopposed, voters cast 1,156 ballots for Ford and 144 ballots for unopposed Republican James D. Walaskay.

'Votingest City' title is sought by Romulus

Yesterday's primary election was just a warm up for some candidates, and it also might have served as a warm up for Romulus citizens as well.

Voters are being asked to turn out in large numbers Nov. 2 to win the title of "America's Votingest City." Romulus Clerk Leonard Folmar, who always is impressed with Romulus' sometimes 70-percent voter turn-out, believes residents could earn their community some recognition in the Bicentennial year by increasing that percentage.

"We've always had a good turn out in this community for local elections and in particular, presidential elections," Folmar said. "I'm thinking if the general election turn out this year is even better than normal, we'll have a shot at some title."

Communities entered in the competition, sponsored by the Alameda (Calif.) Vote 76 committee, will be judged on their population and total registered voters.

With a 1974 population estimate of 25,800, Romulus will be competing with communities larger than 25,000 citizens, but smaller than 50,000 citizens.

"To win may take as much as a 90-percent turn out Nov. 2," Folmar said. "But if we can really convince the 30-percent or so registered voters who may not want to cast their choice in the election, that their ballot is important, then we have a good shot."

Folmar said he is confident in the city's quest because of its "hard-core" political attitude.

"We take our balloting pretty seriously here in Romulus," Folmar said. "And that's an asset in any community."

Under the rules of the contest, Romulus could be recognized either on a "competitive" or a "non-competitive" basis, depending on the cooperation of the citizens in casting their ballots.

The competitive portion would include a ranking of the community compared to others its own size, while the non-competitive portion could earn the community recognition for its participation.

Based on an estimate of the 1976 voting-age population, communities could receive certificates of recognition for having turn outs of 70 to 95 percent.

Judging of the contest will be completed by Dec. 2 this year, and the announcement of the winner will be Dec. 30 as a fitting means of closing out America's Bicentennial year.

Heroic Romulus resident ignores gun, nabs youth

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

It was the willingness of one Romulus resident to "get involved" which provided the key piece to the puzzle which a single detective of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol assembled to arrest 17 juveniles and adults on charges of breaking and entering.

Twenty-nine-year-old David Reiff literally risked his life one evening last March when he apprehended a juvenile he suspected of burglarizing his neighbor's home.

"The man deserves a lot of credit from this community, because he could have been killed when he chased two intruders who had run from his neighbor's home after apparently burglarizing the place," explained Det. Edward Lindberg, the investigating officer from the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol who cracked the massive theft ring.

According to Lindberg, Reiff gave chase to 17-year-old Scott Wade Whaling, who was arraigned on charges of breaking and entering, and a juvenile who was carrying a gun allegedly stolen in an earlier burglary.

Although Whaling escaped his pursuer, the juvenile turned on Reiff and pointed the gun at him.

Fortunately, Reiff was able to wrestle the weapon from the hands of the juvenile before it could be discharged.

Reiff took the juvenile to his own home and held the youth until police came and arrested him on the charges. Ironically, the youth is back on the street today, after being charged with burglary.

However, the apprehension of the youth provided the "break" police needed to begin solving at least 31 burglaries of homes in Romulus' Castle Subdivision since last June.

During the 3-month investigation, Lindberg put together the burglary puzzle as individual after individual admitted a burglary and implicated others. In the end, police had arrested 17 juveniles. At least two adults were involved in the "fencing" of stolen goods and two young females were connected to vandalism incidents. Lindberg said there is the growing possibility of more individuals and possibly several Romulus businesses being involved in distribution of as much as $50,000 in goods taken from the burglaries.

Through the sordid tale of robbery and vandalism, Lindberg also determined there was a desire by other Romulus-area residents to "get involved" on the other side of the law.

"You have to remember that without being able to distribute their stolen goods, this ring couldn't be in business," Lindberg said. "But there always are people willing to get 'a good deal' even though they may suspect the deal comes in stolen property.

"Anytime an individual is offered a commodity at half its value, he should suspect that the goods have been stolen, particularly when you consider that an individual who buys stolen goods knowingly could be charged with possession of stolen goods."

"The courts have ruled that purchasing goods at 50 percent below its normal value is 'prima facie' evidence that it was stolen." According to Lindberg, items taken in some of the 31 reported incidents were fenced virtually "on the spot" to adults who would visit the scene of the crime in automobiles and remove them from the Castle Subdivision area. Other articles were stored in vacant fields near the scene of the breaking and entering, to be removed later.

The investigation which began with Reiff's heroic determination "to get involved" is continuing, and is leading directly to the "law abiding" citizen whose desire for a "good deal" leads him to purchase goods at a "good price" even though he knows the items may have been stolen.

According to Lindberg, evidence that the goods are back in the hands of average citizens is the fact that only five percent of the goods taken in the reported burglaries have been recovered.

Commissioners discuss ways to curb rowdyism in parks

Concerned over the increase in vandalism, drug and alcohol abuse in county parks, a group of Western Wayne County Commissioners, led by Mary Dumas (R-Livonia), recently called a meeting of law enforcement officials to discuss what measures can be taken to curb the growing crime rate.

"As we continue to improve facilities, more people flock to our parks. And with increased usage, unfortunately a bad element has crept in, causing problems for law-abiding citizens," Mrs. Dumas explained. "It's getting to the point where respectable families can't go to the parks for an outing or picnic without being accosted by drug dealers, or bothered by wild teen drinking parties."

"We are attempting to clarify park regulations and set up enforcement guidelines for local and state authorities."

Seven chiefs of police, a township supervisor, state police representatives, and an inspector from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department met with Mrs. Dumas and fellow commissioners, Richard Manning (D-Detroit) and Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville).

They pinpointed drug dealing, alcoholism among young people, harassment of, vandalism and litter as the most prevalent and difficult to enforce offenses.

"We must maintain our strict enforcement of park rules and regulations," Richard M. Novak, senior inspector from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department emphasized. "Our parks have become a haven for dope pushers preying on our children. There is constant harassment of people who use the parks properly."

"We have had a startling rise in citizen complaints along with assaults on officers," he continued. "It is a highly volatile situation. A single policeman cannot operate safely when there are gangs of kids tossing bottles, shouting obscenities. We simply must have more manpower to keep the peace, to protect legitimate citizens."

County Commissioner Richard Manning, an attorney, surveyed the situation: "The park system gradually is being destroyed by dope pushers plying their trade, making it impossible for parents to allow their children to use the parks without personal supervision. Our parklands are so extensive, it's difficult for the police to patrol them closely enough to be effective, in view of the shortage of available manpower as required by local communities."

"We have asked the county Corporation Counsel to prepare a definitive statement on the power of sheriff's department officials and local police departments to disperse and remove disorderly persons from park property when it is apparent they are endangering the safety and morals of people making lawful use of parks."

Commissioner Smith said: "I feel there is a definite need for more law enforcement. Lt. Novak has asked for 18 additional sheriff's patrol people. I support this request."

"If someone could figure out how we could put these kids to work who are creating the problem, I would like to hear about it. The offenders should be required to clean up the mess they leave behind after their wild parties. We need to clean up our parks and make them safe for the residents desiring fun and wholesome entertainment."

Northville Township's Police Chief Roland L. Nisun spoke of the "Beer Hill" section of Cass-Benton Woods.

"At times there have been as many as 500 kids causing problems on Beer Hill," he said. "It backs up to a housing development of 450 homes. This caused a most unpleasant environment for people living there. They moved into an area that was supposed to provide them with a lovely, natural environment, but for some it has been a nightmare."

"This has become a well-known gathering spot for drug dealers. Many of them come from out of state. It is not our local people who are causing the problems. We simply don't have the manpower to patrol the 2 1/2 miles of park under our jurisdiction. We rely on the Sheriff's Department to handle it."

"As a result of this meeting, we have asked the county legal staff to study current park rules with the intent of updating and strengthening them," Mrs. Dumas said. "We are considering preparing a park manual to be distributed to local police departments and the sheriff's department personnel. This will define not only park rules but set down the legal powers and responsibilities regarding search and seizure, crowd dispersal, parking restrictions and use of alcoholic beverages."

The law enforcement personnel present requested that a follow-up meeting be held which would include representatives of the Wayne County Road Commission, Parks Division, State Department of Natural Resources, Corporation Counsel, Prosecutor's Office, the District and Circuit Court benches.

Parade starts off event

County 4-H Fair set for Aug. 16 opening

It's that time of year again for the Wayne County 4-H Fair and parade. The annual event includes a kick-off parade, then a weeklong combination of carnival rides, entertainment, livestock contests, animal demonstrations and other exhibits of youthful accomplishment.

The fair will be held Aug. 16 through 21 this year, with the parade scheduled for Aug. 15.

Planners of the fair events still are looking for floats, horse or bike units, clowns or cars to be in the parade that will begin at 2 p.m. in the Belleville High School parking lot. Anyone interested in entering a unit in the parade can call Norma Tyler at 397-1737. The parade will be organized in the high school parking lot beginning at 1 p.m. on that Sunday afternoon.

The fair will begin the next day, Aug. 16 and run through the week. The 30th annual event will be held at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds located on Quirk Road between the I-94 Expressway and Tyler Road.

In addition to animal demonstrations and competitions, there will be sewing, knitting, crocheting, flower arrangements and other categories.

...visitors can view contests and demonstrations...

Events will run all day each day. Visitors are welcome and can enter the gate for 50 cents per person, said Mrs. Tyler. There also is a fee for parking.

After admission, visitors can view contests and demonstrations at no additional costs. Carnival rides, however, will be extra.

On Aug. 16, a main event of the day will be a youth garden tractor pull at 6:30 p.m. The next day, Aug. 17, horse judging will begin at 8 a.m., and a special attraction at 7 p.m. that evening will be a dog demonstration by the Grosse Ile "Tail Ends" Club. At 7:30 p.m. there will follow a clown act and band.

On Aug. 18, dairy goats will be judged at 6 p.m., followed at 7 p.m. by another dog demonstration by the Plymouth Paw Prints Club.

Children's Day will be on Aug. 19, when the majority of carnival rides will be half price. At 7 p.m. that day the open class speed and action for horses will be a featured event.

The main event on Aug. 20 will be a pony pulling contest at 7 p.m.

Saturday, Aug. 21, will be the last day of the fair, beginning with the annual open horse show at 9 a.m., then a pet show at 1 p.m. The pet show, featuring a number of unusual categories, is open to all youth and their pets. At 4 p.m. a frog jumping contest also is open to all youngsters.

At 8 p.m., there will be an auction of animals.

Besides these listed events, there will be activities throughout each day, Mrs. Tyler said. For a list of activities, there will be a bulletin board set up at the gate entrance listing events.

Picnic to fete players

The annual Romulus Recreation Department picnic will be held Aug. 12, at 9 a.m. in Willow Metropark in Huron Township.

Youngsters attending the picnic will be taken to the park by bus and will be returning home at 3 p.m.

The schedule of events includes games and activities from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and swimming from 12:30 p.m. to 2:45 p.m.

Only youngsters who have participated in the Romulus recreation programs are eligible to attend the picnic.

Youngsters interested in swimming should bring 25 cents if they are 12 years of age or under and 50 cents if they are older than 12. Bathing suits must be worn in the pool.

Biker readies for trek

A Sumpter Township man who took a 2-week motorcycle tour across the United States last year to visit San Francisco, Calif., plans to double his trip time to cover more territory.

Twenty-four-year-old Samuel Kennedy of Sumpter, will embark on a month-long cycle tour tomorrow which will take him across the northern part of the United States to Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B.C., down the west coast to San Francisco, Calif., and eastward through Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico to the Mississippi River, before returning to Michigan.

"If all goes right, I should cover between 8,000 and 10,000 miles," Kennedy said. The motorcyclist, who may be accompanied by Claude Sheldon of Sumpter Township on the trip, plans to stay with friends and relatives along the way, whenever possible, and to camp when he can't stay with relatives.

"I've had to add some things to the bike, including an oil cooler because of a trip I intend to take across Death Valley, and a citizen's band radio," Kennedy said. "I'm looking forward to it."

Historical Society to offer centennial business award

In honor of the Bicentennial era, the Historical Society of Michigan is offering centennial business certificates to all businesses in the state that were founded at least 100 years ago.

In alliance with the centennial certificates, The Oldest Business in Michigan Contest will locate the oldest ongoing business that still pursues its original intent or one that is closely related.

"The contest is being conducted to encourage Michigan communities to become more aware of their business and industrial history," said Frank C. Wilhelm, director of the state historical society.

"We hope that this contest will also increase the interest in preserving important commercial and industrial buildings throughout the state," Wilhelm said. "These structures serve as significant visual links with our past."

Contest winners will be named in three categories: oldest continuously operating business in original building, oldest continuously operating business on original site but not in original building, and oldest continuously operating business relocated from original building and site.

Winners in each category will receive framed certificates from the Historical Society of Michigan and honorary corporate memberships in the society. In addition, the business with the oldest overall founding date will be presented with a framed pen and ink drawing of its first business office.

To apply for a centennial business certificate and to enter the contest,

Car wash jockeys needed to aid MD

The 7-Eleven Food stores throughout the Detroit Metro area are seeking volunteer car wash jockeys to help raise funds for muscular dystrophy.

"We're looking for youngsters—and grown ups, too—to devote an hour or so of their time this Saturday, August 14, or 21 and wash cars at a 7-Eleven parking lot in their neighborhood," said George Davis, Great Lakes Division Manager for 7-Eleven.

"A $1 donation will be requested from the owner of every car washed, which will go to help this year's muscular dystrophy fund campaign," Davis said.

7-Eleven selected the unique form of fund raising "because we believe people want to give more than just money to a cause," Davis said. "They want to give of themselves, to give something in return for a donation."

Persons wishing to participate are asked to fill out an application form available on the counter of any local participating 7-Eleven store. The store owner will then schedule the applicant for a specific car wash time and date.

Applications will be saved for a September prize drawing that will include 10-speed bicycles, Beatles Rock 'n Roll albums and U.S. Savings Bonds.

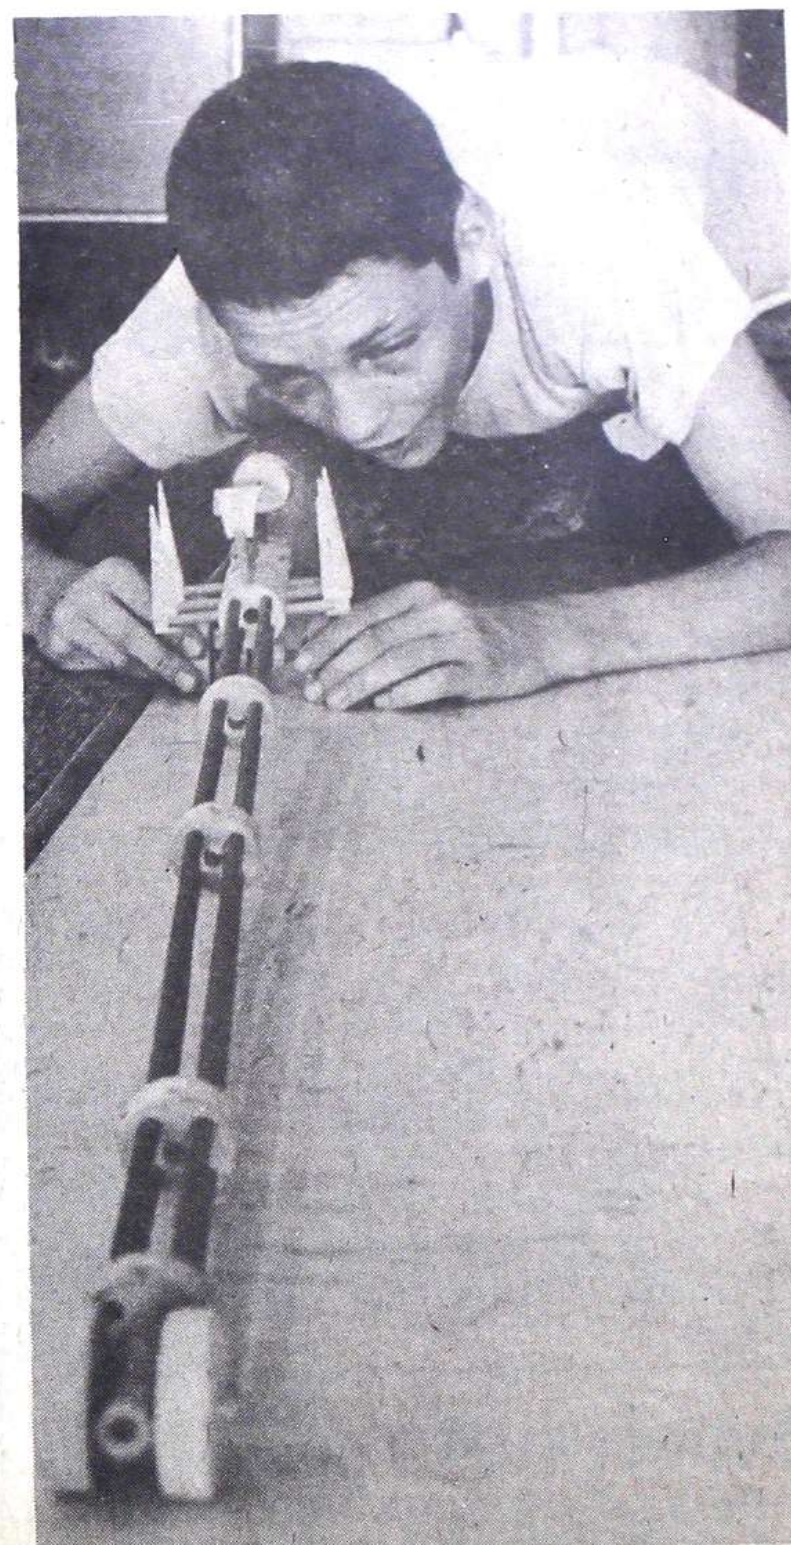

businesses are asked to write to The Historical Society of Michigan, 2177 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor, 48104, and enclose the following information: name of business, address, and zip code, date business was founded, copy or description of documentation to verify founding date, contest category, name and address or person submitting entry, and the name of the president or chief executive officer of the business.

All letters should be postmarked no later than Aug. 15.

The centennial business certificates will be presented this fall in cooperation with local historical organizations. Contest winners will be announced as soon as the results are tabulated.

The State Library, the State Archives, and the State Historic Preservation Officer will receive a list of all centennial businesses and their founding dates. This information will be used by researchers studying Michigan's early commercial and industrial history.

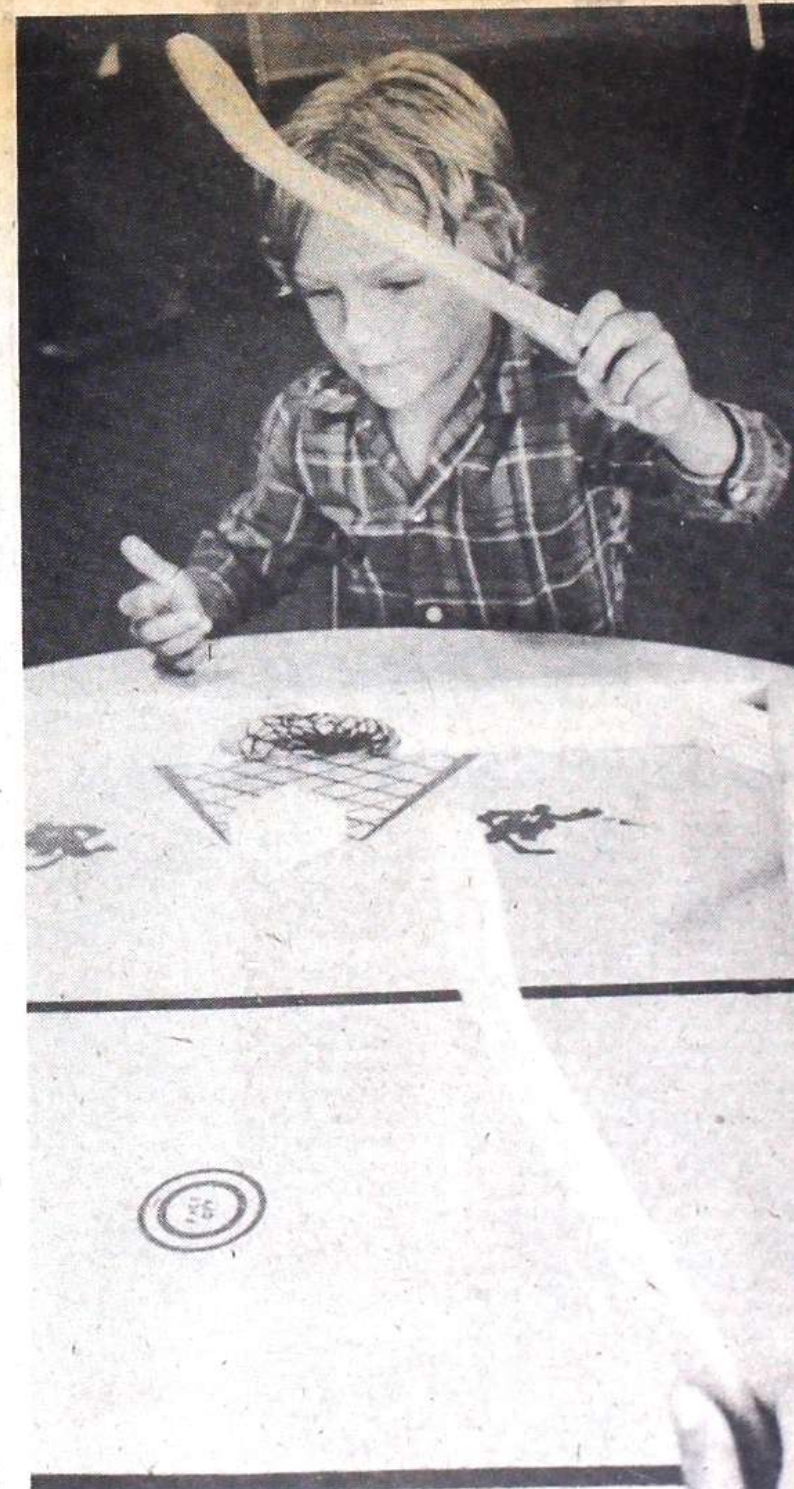

A nonprofit organization, the Historical Society of Michigan promotes the preservation of state and local history throughout Michigan.

Summer fun

Quintet's carnival aids MD charity

Five industrious youngsters from Belleville were able to raise $146 for research into Muscular Dystrophy over the past weekend.

The youngsters, Raymond Wisecarver, 13, Mark Wisecarver, 14, Lisa Wisecarver, 9, Kathy Hendershott, 15 and Kim Hendershott, 13, put on a Muscular Dystrophy Carnival July 31 at 41725 Arthur St., Van Buren Township.

Funds raised for research into the disease came through a raffle of goods donated to the youngsters by local merchants.

The youngsters put on the carnival even though they didn't know anyone with Muscular Dystrophy, according to the Wisecarver children's mother.

There were 44 winners in the raffle.

Proceeds from the fund raiser were sent to Michigan Muscular Dystrophy headquarters in Ferndale.

Fire fighters host tourney

Romulus fire fighters will be hosting the third annual city golf tournament Sept. 25 at the Shady Hollow Golf Course.

The Romulus Open not only will test the golfers' skill, but will combine fun in a "golf extravaganza."

The day will open with coffee and donuts for the early risers, a smorgasbord-style lunch and steak dinner, with cocktails to be served beginning at 11 a.m.

Tee-off times will be reserved on a first-come basis, with the first tee time set for 7 a.m. Tournament Director Leonard Folmar said reservations should be made early for the choice tee-off time.

Trophies will be awarded in low actual and net Officials pondering a possible 2-day tournament in the future to handle the demand and may have to turn some golfers away this year.

Last year's winner, Ed Galaska of Westland, shot a 76 in blowing rain to net the top spot in the tournament.

Owen nets position on 'sunset' panel

State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-22nd District) has been appointed by House Speaker Bobby D. Crim (D-Davison) to serve on a committee studying legislation that would impose an automatic expiration date on state programs.

The concept, known as "sunset legislation," would establish an automatic expiration date on many state programs, which would terminate unless renewed by the legislature.

"It is possible that many state programs which initially were beneficial have outlived their usefulness," Owen said. "Millions of taxpayers dollars are spent on projects every year, and many of them are badly in need of revision and possibly even termination."

Owen added that the purpose of the bill would not be to automatically cut out state programs, but to ensure a periodic review of expenditures in order to determine whether they continue to fulfill the functions for which they originally were created.

"The concept is similar to that of zero-base budgeting," he said. "Instead of automatically granting an appropriation based on the previous fiscal year expenditures, we are reviewing the entire budget and making our decisions on the basis of what is practical for the upcoming fiscal year.

"The same principle applies to sunset legislation. Because a program is necessary during one fiscal year does not mean that it is desirable to perpetuate it indefinitely."

Owen added that the state needs to "periodically review the desirability of programs, agencies and commissions in order to establish the practicality and desirability of continuing expensive projects."

Owen said the 10-member joint legislative committee will attempt to determine just what would be included in the legislation.

"At this point we are considering a comprehensive bill which includes many different facets of state government. If this approach doesn't look feasible, then we may concentrate on one or two specific areas," he said. "Our basic objective is to save taxpayers' dollars by designing and implementing an organized routine for pruning and trimming away ineffective and inefficient state programs that no longer serve the public's needs."

Survey checks businesses on tax

An in-depth survey of Michigan businesses, now underway, will have a major role in determining the future of the state's new Single Business Tax (SBT).

The survey is being conducted by the Governor's Task Force on the SBT and will provide the factual data for their recommendations on possible changes in the much-debated tax structure.

State Sen. Robert Davis (R-Gaylord), a member of the task force, said the survey would be mailed to a cross-section of Michigan business firms, with a request that it be completed and returned within two weeks.

The task force survey constitutes the first carefully coordinated statewide attempt to ascertain the exact repercussions of the SBT at all levels of business.

Davis intends to push in the task force for recommendations by the end of September. He hopes, that would allow for corrective legislation to be acted on this fall.

"It's important that we come to sensible conclusions, but that we do it quickly," Davis added. "I remain convinced that the SBT, as presently written, is having a harmful effect on business and jobs in Michigan. I view the work of the task force as determining what changes need to be made in the SBT, not if changes need to be made."

Davis earlier surveyed some 100 businesses in his 37th Senate District. That informal study indicated a heavily adverse impact on small businesses, particularly in tourism and other personal service industries.

Test study course is offered by CPA

Aspiring certified public accountants (CPAs) who plan to sit for the November 1976 national examination can prepare off-hours through a national CPA Home Study Review Program to be offered again beginning this month by Oakland University's Division of Continuing Education in Rochester.

The 10-lesson program, which offers a full-tuition refund guarantee, if an enrollee does not pass the examination, won a 1976 honorable mention award from the National University Extension Association.

The program includes a "hotline" to personal professors, copyrighted Study Guides for two courses in audit and theory, update summaries of the most recent Accounting Research Bulletins (ARBs), Opinions of the Accounting Principles

Board (APBs), Statements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB), a summary of questions and answers from recent CPA examinations, and a unique economics summary oriented to the CPA examination. Transferring energy

Belleville resident James Anderson of Mott Road works on a hydraulics-electro-mechanical trainer as part of an energy transfer systems course he is taking at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. The "transavtional system" allows his operator to integrate hydraulics and electrical systems. The course examines not only hydraulics and electronics, by pneumatics as well. Anderson is majoring in industrial technology at the college.

Personal checks have common woe

Personal checks can be the subject of some common problems that can be resolved easily with the right information, according to Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley.

A check simply directs the bank to pay out of the customer's account a specific sum to specific person, Kelley said, adding the worst problems arise from the accessibility to individuals other than the specific person — the payee — mentioned.

Kelley warned that making out a check for "cash" should be avoided, since it enables anyone—thief or friend—to cash it. Similarly a check with a blank endorsement—one with just a signature — can enrich anyone in possession of it, he said.

The attorney general went on to say that a check should not be signed until the holder is at the bank teller's window. If it is necessary to sign in advance, instructions such as "for deposit only" or "pay only to" should be added.

Another common mistake, according to Kelley, is discrepancies between the numerical amount indicated and the amount written out on personal checks. The written amount always prevails over the numerical, he said.

If a check is more than six months old, the payee also may find that it's not worth much, since banks customarily refuse to honor them. However, any bank refusing to cash a check must reimburse any losses incurred, such as late fees or additional interest.

The attorney general also advised that residents with checking accounts check their monthly statements carefully for unauthorized signatures and alterations. It can only help, he said.

Women to look 'under hood'

To more than 100,000 women, a "Phillips" now means more than one of the neighbors and a "crescent" conjures up a different image than the moon over a lake.

The words describe two of the four tools Women on Wheels (WOW) program graduates have come to recognize and use as easily as eyeliner and lipstick to correct stalled cars, corroded battery terminals and aim headlights.

The program is designed to aid women motorists in their knowledge of cars, car troubles and repairs. It will get underway at Serbay Motor Sales Inc., in Ypsilanti on Aug. 9.

The WOW program is entering its fifth year at Chrysler-Plymouth and Dodge dealers throughout the country.

"WOW was designed to un-complicate the car for the woman motorist," said John Farley, manager of Technical Service for Chrysler's Service and Parts Sales Division. "It explains the mechanical operation of an automobile, how to recognize serious car trouble, and what easy corrective measures a driver can undertake herself, if she has a minor problem with her car.

"When a lady finishes the four WOW sessions, she should be able to administer vital 'first aid' to her car, using the simple course tools — a flat blade screwdriver, a Phillips screwdriver, a crescent wrench and pliers."

The first class is designed to familiarize the women with the car, why and how it runs. The car is examined from top to bottom — on a hoist, hood up, wheels off, inside and out.

The second session generally concerns the electrical aspects of an automobile. If a car won't start, the possible diagnostic checkouts from battery terminals to sparkplug wires, points and coil are checked. What can be done about fuses, small light bulb replacements, minor malfunctions in turn indicator, brake and parking lights also are part of the class.

The third session gets into braking and fuel systems — how the brake system functions, how to tell when you need an adjustment or new lining, what to do when you run out of gas, when your car is flooded, if it's flooded. How to drive for maximum fuel economy.

The fourth session concerns noise identification, safety and handling. Interested women may contact either their local Dodge or Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.

'Black people in white-ruled South Africa have more freedom than blacks in Uganda'

By LAWRENCE C. IRBY
Panax News Service

OAKLAND, CALIF. — Black people in white-ruled South Africa and Rhodesia have more freedom than blacks have in dictatorial Uganda, according to Eldridge Cleaver. And, he insists, African Americans must learn to discriminate between the dictatorships and democracies of Africa and stop playing a political game based on skin color.

Cleaver, former Black Panther party information minister and leader of its international arm during almost a decade of exile, is author of "Soul On Ice."

He is in maximum security here on the 10th floor of the Alameda County Court House. Cleaver left the United States after the Adult Authority said he had violated his parole and would be returned to prison.

Allegedly Cleaver had been involved with members of the Black Panther Party (BPP) and the Oakland police in a shootout which left Bobby Hutton, 17, dead.

From 1968 until November 1975 Cleaver lived in exile. He returned here from Paris in the company of FBI agents. He had lived in Algeria, Cuba and several other countries, including France.

He recounted his trek and made some observations for The Panax News Service. However, upmost in Cleaver's mind is his own freedom and this question:

Why is Dr. Geza de Kapiany, who killed his wife by slicing and pouring acid on her, free while Cleaver remains in the cooler?

The Adult Authority did not answer this inquiry.

"I've been in jail six months and it's hampering my ability to prepare my defense," Cleaver said. "I came back here to have my case heard in the courts and this whole thing is being sabotaged by the Adult Authority which is showing great ill will toward me and I feel unable to trust them."

But Cleaver has stood back and looked at the United States, comparing it to the world in terms of human relations.

"Everywhere I've gone I've found that the whole sticky, problematic question of race relations is much more evolved and progressive in the

'We must first and foremost settle this whole question—get rid of this fence-straddling mentality that a lot of black people have about going back to Africa, separating into five states, building a new Republic of Africa.'—Eldridge Cleaver

United States than anywhere else. "On the subject of race relations, the American people are several generations ahead of the rest of the world. I can say this in terms of Cuba in particular and of multiracial societies in Africa."

Cleaver said he was totally shocked at the racism of Arabic Africa and he believes many Americans would be shocked, too.

"I know I was. It goes back to a level of animosity and hatred we haven't had in this country since reconstruction. You'd have to go back to reconstruction to find the kind of right now, uptight, blantant, real, out front racism that exists."

Cuban governmental officials are white and the masses are black, Cleaver said. Few blacks have authority in Cuba.

"I took this up with the Cuban Communist party it bothered me so much. They told me things they used to tell us in the '30s. 'Well, ah, they ain't ready yet. Not enough of them are educated.' All those old stories you've heard before."

The blatant racism of Cuba is compounded by the slavery of the Arabic world, according to Cleaver.

"In Algeria people buy individuals and groups of individuals. In Algeria, Mauritania, Tunisia, Morocco, Libya and Egypt you have slavery. And in a place like Saudi Arabia it goes without question that you have it."

Cleaver said he became aware of slavery in Algeria at a friend's home. A black woman had been presented to the Arab woman as a wedding present. Cleaver said the slave entered a room bringing him tea at his hostess' demand.

They rapped. Cleaver said that he was shocked that slavery exists in Africa.

Yet, there are blacks in this country who are righteous and adamant Cleaver believes.

"We're being used as pawns in a political chess game around the world and we're not being used in our own best interest. We must take full advantage of this organization called the United States of America. "We must first and foremost settle this whole question—get rid of this fence-straddling mentality that a lot of black people have about going back to Africa, separating into five states, building a new Republic of Africa."

Even those blacks who are as American as apple pie keep in their mind's eye a vision of a free black state, he said.

"It paralyzes motion, blocks energies that could best be used for getting full citizenship rights in this country. All this stuff about what goes on in Africa being of primary interest is a mistake.

"Those people over there are in a completely different struggle."

Although African Americans should recognize a link with Africans, the interest of Africa should not be uppermost in the minds of black people in this country, Cleaver believes.

"In terms of the practical politics of the present situation people are reacting to what's going on in Angola or Mozambique—particularly Rhodesia than they do in Uganda."

That is not the kind of thing blacks enjoy reading, he said.

"But those are the realities."

"There are bloody and beastly dictators throughout Africa who torture their people and kill their students and who maintain dictatorial regimes."

Cleaver said black Americans are wedded to the democratic process and ought to define and apply democratic procedures and traditions in their relationships with African governments.

The struggle in Africa is one of quality and not skin color, he said. Democracy is denied blacks in South Africa and Rhodesia, but the rudiments of democracy exists among the white populations in those countries.

"The progressive black leaders in Africa want the democratic procedures and traditions broadened to include the black populations as opposed to demolishing them and replacing them with dictatorships."

According to Cleaver, Stokely Carmichael—former leader of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and a former Panther—is telling Americans to unite and liberate Africa with an all-African people's revolutionary party based on Marxist philosophy.

"That's completely and totally out to lunch," Cleaver said. "Stokley has nothing to do with what's going on in Africa and he is misleading us and wasting our time when he goes around and tells us that."

As we see it

U.S., Canada ties slowly crumbling

SO ACCUSTOMED has the United States become to living harmoniously with Canada that early signs of a deteriorating relationship between the two countries are not receiving the attention they deserve.

This is the thesis presented in two recent reports by a study group of 15 Republican Congressmen which included Rep. Philip E. Ruppe (R-Mich.).

The reports contained 34 specific recommendations designed to remove the various irritations found on both sides of the border. They generally fall into the following four broad categories: energy policy, communications, trade and foreign investment and more localized transboundary issues.

Ruppe, as spokesman for the study group said: "The importance of United States-Canadian relations as an element of our foreign policy has been neglected for two long. The United States must now develop a policy approach to Canada which assures cordial relations based on the realities both countries face."

In the American view, the deterioration of relations with Canada can be attributed in part to a rising spirit of nationalism among Canadians.

"There is a strong desire in Canada to break away from dependence on the United States," the reports pointed out.

At the intergovernment level the study group urged the holding of regular bilateral summit meetings between the American President and the Canadian Prime Minister.

The American-Canadian interparliamentary group should hold two meetings a year to study transboundary problems, the reports said. One of these meetings would be formal. The other would be organized as a public hearing.

Interparliamentary exchanges at the state and province level also should be encouraged when the problems were of a more local nature.

The Republican Congressmen urged the Ford Administration to consult closely with Congress in the development of "an integrated policy approach to Canada which includes defense, economic and environmental concerns."

The reports suggested the appointment of a Special Representative for Trade to determine whether Canada was following discriminatory policies, particularly in the communications field, to the damage of American interests.

Publishers of American magazines have protested pending Canadian legislation which would require Canadian editors of those magazines to contain an 80 percent difference in content.

Canadian cable stations also have been accused of pirating American television programs. When the Canadians pick up these programs they black out the commercials and replace them with Canadian sponsors.

The study group said if negotiations fail to halt this practice "consideration should be given to endorsing U.S. border stations" requests for permission to jam their own signals beamed toward Canada.

Sharp criticism was directed at Canada's new energy policies designed to limit the export of Canadian energy sources only to those found to be surplus to Canadian domestic needs.

The Congressmen said they wanted to see prompt delivery of Alaskan natural gas to the lower 48 states. A major decision needs to be taken in this area. Should the gas be delivered by a trans-Canadian pipeline or an alternate trans-Alaskan pipeline and tanker system?

Ford Administration officials, in the view of the Congressmen, should explore with Canada the need for a new regime governing the management of fisheries in Lake Erie. Such an arrangement should protect legitimate American fishing interests and prevent the depletion of fish stocks, the reports stressed.

Commonsense Views on Uncommon Issues

Privately owned utilities face death at hand of bureaucrats

By HARRY HALL
Former President
Michigan Chamber of Commerce

When eight members of the Governor's Advisory Commission on Electric Power Alternatives recommended that the State of Michigan go into the production and sale of electricity, they displayed dangerous self-deception that obscures the genuine source of the problem.

The majority members ignored two unfortunate and unpleasant realities. The first reality is that rapidly developing trends in the economy of the recent recession years prompted the basic problem that was beyond the control of investor-owned utility management regardless of the degree of its efficiency, competence or wisdom. The leprous impact of inflation and the resultant sky-rocketing costs of operations hit the utilities like it hit all other business firms. Costs of everything the companies had to do to provide any service at all to customers increased astronomically. Wages for employees leaped upward in accordance with national trends. Supplies, machinery and expensive equipment went up like a space bound astro-ship. Oil, coal, poles, wires more than doubled in a two-year period. These additional financial outlays were unavoidable.

There was a difference with the utilities and other companies. That led to the second unpleasant reality. The utility companies could not increase prices to meet the rising costs. All these additional costs of operations were imposed onto a rate structure fixed by the Public Service Commission to meet economic conditions that had become obsolete overnight. In other words, the electric companies were faced with the impossible task of meeting uncontrolled costs with strictly controlled income. It could not be done.

The Public Service Commission, operating with cumbersome bureaucratic rules and a frightening timidity did not act promptly or with sufficient rate relief to prevent massive damage to the earnings of the utility companies. The consequence was drastic cut backs and loss of confidence by the investment companies which must secure funds for new and updated facilities to meet immediate and future electric power needs of a growing population and for expansion of industry. The last point is indispensable if jobs are to be available for the new workers coming into the labor market.

These two realities were the basic causes of the crisis that existed for a period of time and could have been solved without too much damage if the matter had not become so highly politicized. The majority proposal of the politically appointed commission puts the issue deeper into the ruinous politics of the state.

Five members of the commission did not suffer the lapse in logic of the other eight members. Three prestigious business executives and two equally illustrious union leaders joined in signing a minority report. This dissenting report points out the glaring errors in judgment of the majority report. In summary it says:

●—The creation of a Michigan Power Authority does not offer the public assurance of something positive being done to minimize rate increases.

●—The Michigan Power Authority proposal reveals no reduction in rate increases at the best even if the most impractical excuses given were to materialize, which is highly improbable. If all of these unlikely conditions should happen, the decreases would not be more than 50 cents per month for the average household. Such rate changes could not occur for several years.

●—To make claims of lower rates is misrepresentation and irresponsible.

●—The claim for savings in a state owned-operated power company was based on analyses of an inept and unqualified staff with no experience whatever in engineering or construction.

●—The claim that sources of savings by the state sale of securities would result in lower interest rates is questionable since well qualified counsel advises that there is substantial reason to believe that such bonds would not qualify for federal income exemption and therefore would have no advantage or lower costs.

●—Legitimate and real costs required to provide reliable and adequate electric power supply must be recognized by the Public Service Commission and cannot be met by the "maybe" type of palliatives of state owned power plants. Such claims mislead the public into thinking that such remedies will result in significant savings in the cost of electricity. These are the main points. Suggestions were made that the State redirect its effort by outlining clearly the existing problems and circulating the information to the public. The Governor was urged to reject the majority report "in toto".

The conclusion should be required reading for any Michigan citizen concerned with the future of the state. It says, "Indeed, if the majority report recommendations are adopted and no immediate action is taken to improve the electric energy situation facing Michigan it is our conclusion that the utilities in Michigan will not be able to meet their service obligations over the next 10 years to the great jeopardy of the citizens of the State of Michigan."

I have outlined the main contentions of this minority report because the press gave so little attention to it when it was released. Also, I agree wholeheartedly with the report. In my opinion, the implementation of the majority report would accentuate, compound and complicate irretrievably the problems of the privately owned utilities. It would mean a death sentence to these companies and give the state the excuse to take over their total operations. Michigan would unavoidably decline as a major industrial state.

The private companies have served Michigan well. They have met the requirements of the general public. They have enabled industry to expand and provide jobs at one of the highest wage rates in the nation. This point should not be overlooked by consumers who do not want to pay higher electric bills. Unlike virtually every facet of life needs, including government services, the cost of electricity dropped continually for years. Only in the past few years conditions mentioned triggered the opposite trend.

Michigan has been the domicile of some of the world's best job-producing industries. These industries are among the most electric energy intensive. Electric energy is one of the essential requirements for the type of high cost, high wage industry that provides these skilled jobs. Michigan can compete only if it can overcome a number of government imposed noncompetitive costs of operations by the most advanced technology. This will continue to demand an increasing amount of electric power as new machinery becomes more sophisticated and productive.

Electric power is one absolute necessity for which there is not now, nor in the foreseeable future, any substitute. Investor-owned utilities are an indispensable component of the modern industrial system — a system, by the way, which enables private business to supply 82 percent of all jobs in a society where more than 90 percent of all gainfully employed people are job holders. That means they work for somebody for a salary.

Jobholders, householders and business executives may as well recognize that electric power is going to cost more if it is to be available at all. That is no different from anything else. State government costs are going up too—faster than most everything else. They will go even higher if new bureaus are established at the whim of politicians who seem hell-bent on the destruction of the private business system by creating more and more of these bureaucratic absurdities such as this Michigan Power Authority. Government already has its bicentennials chockingly clasped around the throat of business to the disadvantage of every consumer. If taxpayers cherish the freedoms we fought to secure 200 years ago, it is time to tell the elected officials responsible for these asininites to lay off or get out. Voters can do just that if they have the desire and the will.

Carter questioned on tax reform

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON — As smiling Jimmy Carter rattled off his market-tested cheer lines at Madison Square Garden, one in particular captured my fancy. It had to do with the U.S. tax code.

Said Jimmy, "It is time for a complete overhaul of our income tax system. I still tell you it is a disgrace to the human race."

Even allowing for rhetorical excess, this is fairly heavy stuff. Especially when you consider that every exemption, deduction, allowance and credit in that tax system was inserted or approved by a Congress that has been overwhelmingly Democratic since Jimmy Carter gave up submarines for peanut farming.

If our tax system demeans and disgraces us before mankind, as Mr. Carter suggests, how should he deal with the three Democratic politicians most responsible? Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills and Al Ullman, and Senate Appropriations Chairman Russell Long?

Every "tax reform" of the last decade was crafted in their committees, approved in conference by Democratic majorities, voted upon by a Democratic House and Senate. If the result of these efforts is a tax system so discriminatory and rotten as to hold America up to the ridicule and contempt of mankind, why, then, let us draw up articles of impeachment against the architects.

Indeed, one wonders how the son of Huey Long, sipping his bourbon before the television tube, reacted on hearing his party's nominee tell a cheering convention hall that the Louisiana senator's life work was "a disgrace to the human race."

Which raises the question: Is Jimmy Carter's hyperbole to be taken literally, or even seriously? I think not.

For if Mr. Carter believed his rhetoric about what a wretched income tax system we have, all he need do to effect change is to suggest publicly reforms to the Democratic Senate, currently rewriting the code. Surely, in deference to the request of its new leader, Senate Democrats would write these changes into law.

Does Mr. Carter feel that the corporate tax should be raised from 48 per cent, to, say, 60 per cent? Does he want capital gains taxed as regular income? Does he want the minimum tax hiked? Does he wish the 50 percent maximum tax on salaries raised? What deductions (i.e., "loop-holes") would he like to see eliminated? Precisely how does his party plan to extract another $5 billion from the producing sector of this society - as it promises in the platform?

On all these matters Mr. Carter remains mute. With good reason. He wishes to have the liberal Democrats and press applaud him as a fighting "tax reformer," without alerting the victims who are going to have to pay higher taxes for his campaign publicly. As for Mr. Carter's outrage over the existing tax system, it has about it a feigned and synthetic quality — manufactured and uttered because that is what pollster Pat Cadell told him would turn on the affluent elite at Madison Square Garden, which likes to think of itself as the populist leadership of the party of the people.

VP pick may get Reagan nominated

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "Victory at any price," stated Howard Phillips of the Conservative Caucus, "is no more valid a concept than peace at any price. Conservatives have long criticized those who would surrender their principles to achieve peace. Why applaud those who would surrender their principles in the name of victory?"

This is a good summary of the reaction by conservatives to Ronald Reagan's decision to take liberal Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Schweiker as his running mate should he be nominated by the GOP in Kansas City. Just about everyone on the political right here believes that the choice cripples Reagan's chances of wresting away the nomination from President Ford. In reply, Reagan's supporters at his headquarters here told us that the decision was made to guarantee "a margin of safety" among GOP delegates.

"We think we have a razor-thin edge of delegates without Schweiker," one top Reagan operative told us, "but in this close contest we don't want to take any chances."

The damage done to Reagan among his hard-core support since he announced his choice appears to have been minimal. Without a doubt, the choice was a political act of expediency, which the former California governor has decried in the past. Ironically, the Reagan play may gain him the nomination, but it may lose him the election and, thus, mark the beginning of the end for the Republican Party. Until Reagan's announcement, Republicans were delighted with the fact that Jimmy Carter had chosen Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale as his running mate.

Mondale is a leftist-leaning liberal, and the GOP had planned to use this fact against Carter to cut into his southern conservative support. Should Reagan get the nomination, it will be almost impossible for Reagan, with Schweiker as a running mate, to make a case against Carter as a creature of the northern liberal-labor coalition that has, since FDR, brought about the very big government Reagan claims he is against.

"As a member of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare," observed Phillips, "Dick Schweiker has a record hardly distinguishable from that of Democratic vice-presidential nominee Walter Mondale — both have supported bigger, more costly government, and more federal intrusions in education, in the family, in business and in medicine."

"The principal difference," Phillips added, "between Schweiker and Mondale is that Sen. Mondale votes the left-wing line by conviction, whereas Sen. Schweiker does it for the convenience of securing AFL-CIO support in his Pennsylvania political campaigns."

When Mondale attacked President Ford for pardoning Richard Nixon in his acceptance speech at the New York Democratic Convention, it gave a great leg up to Reagan's chances to wrest the nomination from Mr. Ford. Carter was visibly disturbed that Mondale had done this prior to the GOP convention, since Ford would be easier to beat than Reagan.

Carter must be smiling more broadly now that Reagan, in choosing Schweiker, has compromised his position. He must be particularly cheered by the threat of some Reagan delegates to sustain on the first ballot. If this happens, Ford would most certainly get the nomination and the Reagan political play will be proven to be an act of political suicide. Ford as the nominee means a crushing GOP defeat at the hands of Carter. A Reagan-Carter contest would make it a much closer race, but Reagan would be campaigning without the strong weapon of a principled conservative running against the liberal-labor establishment fronted by Carter and Mondale.

The upshot of all this is that Reagan in one decision of political expediency has signed the death warrant of the Republican Party. Even before his announcement, a movement had been underway among conservatives like Phillips to leave the Republican Party and form a third party. A meeting is slated in Chicago in December by conservative leaders across the nation to serve the divorce papers to the Republicans. Phillips is an officer of an organization known as the "Committee for a New Majority" that hopes to bring together Wallace conservatives disenchanted with the Democratic Party and disenchanted conservatives in the GOP.

All Reagan has done is provide a firm justification among his conservative supporters in the GOP that a new political party is the only alternative to a Republican establishment that knows only one course of political action: play the liberals' game on liberal terms.

Would Connally help or hurt Ford ticket?

By TOM OCHILTREE
Panax Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Now that President Gerald Ford really believes he has taken the measure of Ronald Reagan at last, an intense struggle is developing behind Ford's back over his vice presidential choice.

The rival groups are striving to get Ford's ear. Basically, they disagree over whether it would be a master stroke or a blunder for the Republican National Convention meeting in Kansas City Aug. 16 to select former Texas Gov. John B. Connally as Ford's running mate.

"Big John," a onetime Democrat turned Republican, is capable of arousing great passions among the GOP faithful that easily can spill over on the convention floor.

With that in the back of his mind, House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes (R-Ariz.), suggested it might be wise for Ford to let the convention delegates pick the vice-presidential nominee without pressure from the White House.

Even if Ford agreed to play it that way, Rhodes rated Connally as one of three favorites to win. By his reckoning the other two both surprises at this stage were George Bush, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Ronald Reagan himself.

But, the puzzled voter may well ask, isn't former California Gov. Reagan still running against Ford for the Republican presidential nomination? True. However, Ford has confided to associates that—all propaganda aside—he really expects a first ballot victory at Kansas City now that Reagan's selection of ultra-liberal Sen. Richard S. Schweiker as his running mate has alienated so many Republicans associated with the party's conservative wing.

According to White House estimates, the bell began tolling for Reagan when Mississippi's silver-haired Clarke Reed, a powerful Republican force in the South, switched to Ford.

Reagan picked Schweiker of Pennsylvania in an attempt to modify the conservative image projected by his own campaign and thereby pick up strength in the liberal Northeast. That is beginning to look like a giant miscalculation. "That was too big a price for Reagan to pay for the nomination," Reed said. Connally, on the other hand, would be right down Reed's street.

without Mississippi, there probably will be more than enough defections from Reagan elsewhere in the South to put Ford across, figures compiled at the President's campaign headquarters showed.

If Schweiker's selection was Reagan's undoing, could Ford's acceptance of Connally damage the Republican Party in the November election?

Those who argue it could point out that the foot soldiers of the GOP—the county and ward chairmen—don't cotton to people who change their political loyalties late in life.

Connally originally climbed up the ladder in Democratic politics in Texas in the footsteps of Lyndon Johnson. He was Secretary of the Navy in John Kennedy's Administration before he went home to be elected governor. As many people will recall, he was seated beside Kennedy on that fateful automobile ride in Dallas and wounded in the same burst of shots that killed Kennedy.

He changed parties during Richard Nixon's Administration, which he served for a time as Secretary of the Treasury. He is a powerful speaker with powerful friends in government and industry and is reputed to be an exceptionally good administrator. His friends claim he could take Texas away from Jimmy Carter.

Still there are people around Ford who feel the President would make a mistake to take Connally.

One of them put it this way: "Connally is too slick for me. He is like a guy who shuffles cards too fast or plays pool too well. You wonder how he got that way."

Another was even more biting: "President Ford's one handicap in this campaign is his early pardoning of Nixon. Connally's presence on the ticket, by association, would tend to remind the public of the unhappy Nixon days. Ford doesn't need that."

This campaign probably represents the last chance for the brass ring for 59-year-old Connally, who was indicted and later acquitted of bribery charges in connection with milk processors' gifts to the Nixon Administration.

Traditionally, a man seeking the vice presidency does not campaign for the job but waits for the President to tap him. If Ford threw the whole thing open, however, the best natural campaigner could blitz the convention delegates. There is where Connally could shine. Reportedly he has installed 200 telephones at his Texas ranch for just such a contingency.

Reagan has said over and over that he would not accept the second spot on a Ford-Reagan ticket. There are still Republicans who think they can get him to change his mind in the interest of party unity. After all, they reasoned, he could salvage something out of a hard wear of campaigning that way.

Bush, a former Texas Congressman and onetime chairman of the Republican National Committee, is a somewhat longer shot than Connally.

To win Senate confirmation of Bush as head of the CIA, Ford promised last December not to consider Bush as a vice presidential running mate.

However, if Ford kept hands off and the convention showed it preferred Bush, there would be nothing to prevent him from accepting, high party sources said.

Ford's list is not limited to Connally, Reagan and Bush. Others being considered include Sens. Howard H. Baker and William Brock, both of Tennessee; Elliott Richardson, Secretary of Commerce; Govs. Robert D. Day of Iowa, Dan Evans of Washington State and Christopher S. Bond of Missouri; Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois; and Anne Armstrong, America's first woman ambassador to Britain.

Held-Pfeiffer wed at Martha-Mary Chapel

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD F. HELD

Since returning from their week-long honeymoon trip to Isle Royal, the newly wed Richard F. Helds have taken up residence at the bride's apartment at 2294 Woodview Rd., Ypsilanti.

Debra A. Pfeiffer became Mrs. Held in a 5 p.m. ceremony July 17 at Martha-Mary Chapel on the grounds of Greenfield Village in Dearborn. The Rev. Walter Henning of Belleville presided at the double ring rite attended by some 150 relatives and friends.

For the candlelight service, the altar was appointed with arrangements of carnations, mums and gladiolas, all in white.

The bride is the daughter of Col. Rheuna B. Pfeiffer of 10611 136th St., Puyallup, Wash. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Schaerer of 48024 Bemis Rd., Belleville.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of satin with a sheer nylon overdress which swept into a chapel length train as she walked. The square neckline was banded with satin scalloping with the high, fitted bodice enhanced with fine pin tucking at the front and back. Her full-length sleeves ended in deep buttoned cuffs at the wrist.

A covered flexible headband accented with satin rosettes at the temples held her illusion veil which extended the length of her train. She completed her bridal finery with a large nosegay of white carnations and red roses mixed with baby's breath. White satin streamers with red rosebuds attached cascaded from the bouquet.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her maid of honor and only attendant, Jacquelyn Taylor of Ypsilanti. Her halter-style dress, worn with a brief jacket, was made of polyester fabric in a brown and orange floral print on a beige background.

Complimenting her gown were a wide-brimmed straw colored hat encircled with brown ribbon and a nosegay of orange carnations and baby's breath.

Ronald C. Held of Belleville served as his brother's best man. Ushers were another brother, Gary L. Held, and a brother-in-law, Ralph D. Hendrix, both of Belleville.

At the reception which followed at the bridegroom's parents home on Bemis Road, Mrs. Schaerer greeted guests in an apricot-colored, long sleeved gown to which she pinned her corsage of yellow roses and baby's breath.

A graduate of Bellevue High School in Bellevue, Neb., the new Mrs. Held is employed at Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Inc. of Ann Arbor. Her husband, a Belleville High School alumnus, presently is studying photography at Washtenaw Community College where he will graduate in June of 1977. A former serviceman, he spent four years with the U.S. Air Force and received his honorable discharge in March of 1972.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal party at their home.

Madonna College offering special courses on improved care of elderly

Improving care of the elderly is the objective of a Madonna College program to provide advanced and basic knowledge and skills to 85 persons employed in nursing homes or other service agencies.

Forty students between the ages of 18 and 50 have completed the basic level of training during the past year and will move into the advanced level. Forty-five additional paraprofessionals are being recruited to enroll in the basic program in September.

Funds allocated for vocational-technical education will provide students with tuition grants for a planned program of 16 semester hours of study. Those completing the advanced training will receive the Madonna College certificate of achievement, equivalent to one year of college education. Credit may also be applied to the associate or bachelor's degree.

In announcing the paraprofessional training, Sister Mary Danatha, Madonna College president, indicated the program is intended to upgrade skills and knowledge of those who have the most contact with nursing home patients, specifically orderlies, aides and food service personnel. Potential employees seeking job-entry skills also may enroll.

Enrolling in two classes each term, basic students have the opportunity to study communication skills, educational gerontology, social gerontology, nursing care of the aged, nutrition for the aging, art for the aging and the psychology of aging. The students will engage in classroom instruction, demonstrations and supervised field experience.

Advanced students will enroll in human behavior and leadership, community resources, physical aspects of aging, physical education and recreation activities, death and dying seminars and pre-retirement planning.

Since the program is competency-based, each student must master certain skills in each course before advancing to other skills. On-the-job performance will be evaluated by the program's director, Sister Colleen Morris, RN, M.A., of the Madonna gerontology department.

Workers engaged in care of the elderly who are interested in enrolling in the paraprofessional training should contact Sister Morris at 425-8000, Ext. 36, Monday through Friday.

Find out about new beef grading

Have you wondered what the recent revisions in the grading of beef are all about? The grading changes have been in effect since February 23, 1976, and are now part of the marketing machinery of the beef industry.

A background report on this subject (Beef Grading — What it is; How It's Changed) has been prepared by the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This folder gives clear, precise and detailed information on beef grading (both quality and yield grading), the revisions and how they affect the consumer.

The Meat Board is a not-for-profit corporation owned and operated by the livestock and meat industry. It occasionally works with some agencies of government, especially in the field of consumer education.

You can obtain this folder by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to "Beef Grading," Dept. CTC, Beef Industry Council, 444 North Michigan, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Cherry pork chops cooked over coals are unforgettable treat

Whether it's a special occasion or just a day for food and fun, plan the menu around thick pork chops cooked on the outdoor grill. The meal is certain to be memorable when these meaty chops are broiled over charcoal and brushed with a shimmering tart red cherry glaze that hints of almond.

Since a low to moderate temperature produces tender, juicy pork chops they should be placed 5 or more inches above ash-covered coals, advises Reba Staggs, National Live Stock and Meat Board. Then they can be cooked to well done without coming too brown or dry. The glaze can be made ahead or cooked right on the grill in a saucepan. The combination of pork and fruit is a taste treat to remember.

Cherry-Glazed Pork Chops

8 pork chops, cut 1 to 1½ inches thick
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 can (16 ounces) pitted tart red cherries
½ teaspoon almond extract

1 teaspoon salt
Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add cherries, cherry liquid and almond flavoring. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Place pork chops on grill 5 or more inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 10 minutes on each side. Continue broiling, turning occasionally about 10 to 20 minutes longer or until well done. During last 10 to 15 minutes of broiling time, season chops on both sides with salt and brush with sauce. Continue broiling, brushing with sauce and turning occasionally. Serve remaining sauce with chops. 8 servings.

YWCA takes clubs into neighborhoods

Mothers with young toddlers still at home can get away from home without going too far in an expanded program through the YWCA of Western Wayne County.

The organization is opening up its women's club to any women who might be interested in having such a group in their apartment complex, trailer court or neighborhood.

The clubs meet weekly or every other week, depending on the wishes of club members, and provides an opportunity for women to get together with neighbors for coffee, crafts, visiting, speakers, exercise, movies, service projects and discussions of topics of concern.

The actual blend of the club activities depends on its members, and a YWCA staff member assists each club in planning its programs.

The YWCA is moving the clubs to the women because the latter "aren't mobile", according to Melinda Finger, area program director.

While apartment complexes or trailer courts lend themselves naturally to women's clubs because of the closeness of neighbors, such groups can be established anywhere there is a small nucleus of interested women.

For further information on the program, contact Mrs. Finger at 561-4110.

Summer afternoon chosen for Waddell-Sliwa marriage

Arrangements of white gladiolas, mums, purple statice and pink carnations graced the altar of St. Stephen's Catholic Church in New Boston July 10 as Cindy Sliwa and Briant Scott Waddell exchanged double ring vows.

The Rev. Alexander J. Wytrwal presided at the 2 p.m. rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Sliwa Jr. of 19800 Sumpter Rd., Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pinette of 46026 Traskos Ave., Belleville, in holy matrimony.

Some 150 relatives and friends saw Cindy walk up the aisle with her father. For her wedding day she chose to wear a gown of polyester organza designed with a square neckline and ruffled bishop sleeves. Her chapel length train extended from a lifted bodice and, like the skirt, was bordered with a deep flounce.

A Camelot cap studded with pearls on cluny lace held the bride's lace-edged illusion veil and a crescent bouquet of white miniature carnations, sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath completed her ensemble.

Wearing a dusty pink polyester dress, Sheri Hudge of Belleville served as maid of honor. Her pale pink hat was tied with matching ribbon and she held cascading carnations in dusty pink and pale pink, purple statice and baby's breath.

Attendants in identical outfits were Connie Januszyk of Tipton, a cousin of the bride and Gail Helfrich of Romulus.

The flowergirl, 10-year old Sherry Januszyk of Belleville, donned a pink and white dotted swiss frock and carried a white basket of flowers.

The bride's 9-year old brother, Michael Sliwa, filled the role of ringbearer.

Best man was Paul Ray Crowder of Belleville. Ushers were Sam Rochon of Belleville, a cousin of the bride, and Jimmy Grishaber of Romulus.

The PNA Hall was reserved for the reception which was attended by some 325 guests. Mrs. Sliwa greeted relatives and friends in along dusty pink gown worn with white accessories while Mrs. Pinette, the bridegroom's mother, wore a salmon formal gown and gold accessories. Both were honored with corsages of red sweetheart roses.

Father Wytrwal, who was among the guests, presented the young couple with a tape of their marriage vows. Grandparents attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sliwa Sr., Mrs. Alma Memering, Mrs. Vera Waddell and Frank Armatis Sr. Mrs. Mary Sliwa, the bride's great-grandmother, was also present. Out of state guests were from Woodridge, Ill. and Springfield, Ohio.

The new Mrs. Waddell will be a senior at Belleville High School (BHS) in the fall. Her husband, a 1973 alumnus of BHS, is employed by the Ford Motor Co. at Rawsonville. They are residing at 18100 Elwell Rd., Lot No. 113, Belleville.

The rehearsal luncheon was held at the home of the bride's parents on Sumpter Road.

New Pastor ordained

The new pastor of Belleville's Lutheran Church of the Apostles, The Rev. Jere R. Kimmell (center), received his stole, the symbol of the Office of Ministry, during ordination services July 11 at Holy Communion Lutheran

Church welcomes pastor

The mission congregation of the Lutheran Church of the Apostles (LCA) recently participated in a series of joyous events which culminated with a service of worship on July 25 conducted by their new pastor, The Rev. Jere R. Kimmell.

The sequence began with the issuance of a "call" to Mr. Kimmell who had just graduated from Hamma School of Theology in Springfield, Ohio on May 30. As a result of this action, Mr. Kimmell was ordained into the Office of Holy Ministry by The Rev. Dr. Howard A. Christensen, president of the Michigan Synod, Lutheran Church in America.

The ordination was held at Holy Communion Lutheran Church in Detroit on July 11 with members of both congregations participating in the Service of the Word and Sacrament and Rite of Ordination.

The Rev. Kimmell was installed as pastor of Lutheran Church of the Apostles on July 18 by The Rev. Dr. Robert P. Hetic, assistant to the president, Michigan Synod (LCA). Pastor Kimmell, his wife, Bonnie, and son, Christopher, reside in the parsonage located at 45190 Jeanette, Belleville.

Worship services are conducted Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m. in the new Oddfellows hall on Savage Road, approximately one mile east of Belleville. Pastor Kimmell and the members of his congregation welcome all to join in the services, participate in the fellowship and call upon them if there is any way they can be of service to the people in their community. The telephone number for the church is 699-2111.

Sen. Faust protests closing

The state senator whose district includes Van Buren Township and Belleville has protested the closing of the Belleville Secretary of State branch office.

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) said the closing of the Secretary of State branch located at High Street and Columbia Street in Belleville will inconvenience area residents who would be purchasing license plates and handling transactions.

"Besides generally making state services less accessible to the public, the closing of the Belleville Secretary of State branch will make it harder for local residents to register to vote," Faust said.

Faust has protested the closing to the Michigan Secretary of State, saying that forcing residents to travel to Romulus and Ypsilanti for service "makes it harder on taxpayers to get services they pay for".

In addition, according to the senator, the elderly and the handicapped who need a local branch office the most are penalized by the closing. The branch was closed July 26, only weeks after the death of John Barber, who had served as the local branch manager for several years.

Theatre readies season

The world premiere of "Washington Square", an opera by Thomas Pasatieri, will open the Michigan Opera Theatre's 1976-77 season at the Detroit Musical Hall Center for the Performing Arts.

Other operas scheduled throughout the season include "Madam Butterfly", "Naughty Marietta" and "The Magic Flute". "Washington Square" which will be presented Oct. 1, 3, 6, 8 and 9, is based on the Henry James novel. It was commissioned by the Michigan Opera Theatre with a grant in partial support from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Featured in the performance will be Metropolitan Opera bass-baritone Giorgio Tozzi and New York City Opera soprano Catherine Malfitano.

The production will be conducted by the Seattle Opera's music director, Henry Holt, with Nikos Psacharopoulos as the stage director.

Puccini's "Madam Butterfly" will be presented Nov. 5, 7, 10, 12 and 13 and will feature Patricia Craig and Dolores Strazicich, alternating in the title role.

Yoshimi Takeda, music director of the Albuquerque and Kalamazoo symphonies, will conduct.

Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta" will be staged on Jan. 14, 16, 19, 21 and 22 following in the Michigan Opera Theatre' tradition of presenting one work each season from the world of operetta.

The final production of the season, Mozart's "The Magic Flute", will be a new production, designed by Robert Isreal and directed by Rhoda Levine. John Covelli, music director of the Flint symphony, will conduct.

Performances of the operas are in English. For ticket information call 693-3717.

Ameia Earhart became the first woman to fly nonstop across the United States on Aug. 24, 1932, setting the women's transcontinental speed record as she went. Her flight, from Los Angeles, Calif. to Newark, N.J. — a distance of roughly 2,600 miles — was accomplished in 19 hours and 5 minutes. A Lockheed Vega airplane once flown by Miss Earhart, and similar to the one she used in her historic transcontinental flight, is part of the transportation collections at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

Canoe trips turn back time

Huron, Raisin rivers: Scenic panorama

The major part of the Huron's nearly 128-mile trek from its source at Big Lake in Oakland County is through primitive countryside...

Canoeists who travel the Huron River and the River Raisin from their headwaters to the marshlands of Lake Erie pass through a panorama of scenery that covers two centuries.

The major part of the Huron's nearly 128-mile trek from its source at Big Lake in northern Oakland County is through primitive countryside reminiscent of how southeast Michigan looked in the 1800s.

But the Huron also carries canoeists into the 20th Century hustle and bustle of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and smaller communities where cars and trucks can be heard whooshing by one some of Michigan's super-highways.

The River Raisin, too, gives canoeists glimpses of how Michigan has changed from the entry. From its headwaters at Goose Lake in Hillsdale County's lake country, the Raisin travels through farmland, rural villages and former mill towns until it reaches Lake Erie in sight of the smoke stacks at the Edison power plant at highly industrialized Monroe.

The portion of the Raisin recommended for canoeing is a 42-mile stretch in Lenawee County that starts at Clinton, once the site of grist and woolen mills, and ends at Deerfield, names for the numerous deer found in the area when the community was settled in the early 1800s.

The 2-day trip takes canoeists through Tecumseh, named for the great Shawnee chief; the outskirts of Adrian, home of Adrian College, and Blissfield, where city parks line both sides of the river.

The river was named Raisin because wild grapes (in French, raisin) grew along the riverbanks.

In the spring of the year, the water is good for canoeing but later it becomes too shallow in many sections. The 17 dams on the Raisin—six in or near Monroe—make long trips arduous. The lower section of the waterway can provide an afternoon of canoeing pleasure—especially in Monroe, where there are nearly a half-dozen parks lining both sides of the river.

While in Michigan's only Lake Erie port city, be sure to check out the Monroe County Historical Museum with its fine collection of memorabilia of Gen. George Armstrong Custer. He lived in Monroe after his marriage.

There are no liveries so bring your own canoe if you want to follow the River Raisin, or drive M-50, which parallels the river for several miles.

The 100 miles of the Huron River deemed suitable for canoeing start at Proud Lake in Oakland County and traverse Livingston, Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties before reaching Lake Erie. The trip takes seven to 10 days, and there are four campgrounds especially designated for canoeists.

Canoeists who take the 2-day trip on the Raisin must rely on the graciousness of private landowners if they wish to camp for the night, but the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority has provided campsites for those who follow the Huron. These are at Kensington Metropark, the Island Lake Recreation Area and the Hudson Mills and Lower Huron metroparks.

A Huron River Canoeing Map from the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority provides all the information needed to plan a trip lasting anywhere from a few hours to two weeks.

It lists the seven canoe liveries along the river, including Heavner's at Milford. In winter, Heavner offers combination canoe and cross-country skiing trips for experienced outdoorsmen.

There are 13 dams on the Huron and a short stretch of white near Delhi, just outside of Ann Arbor, which must be portaged. Some daredevil canoeists try to shoot the picturesque rapids when the water is high enough. It is not recommended, however.

Except for an occasional highway bridge, the strength between Proud Lake and Milford is unchanged from a century ago, and on weekends, when, there are few canoeists out, deer, raccoon and other animals can be seen at the water's edge.

Where the river empties into Lake Erie at the Pte. Mouille State Game Area, waterfowl abound and canoeists sometimes catch a glimpse of herons and egrets in the marshlands.

Probably one of the most popular sections of the Huron—because of its proximity to the University of Michigan campus—is along Huron River Drive at Ann Arbor. Students' canoes often are seen gliding through water lilies and past tree-lined banks.

Motorists who follow Huron River Drive will catch a glimpse of rapids at Delhi, where there is a beautiful picnic grove, and see fishermen patiently awaiting a yank at the end of their line.

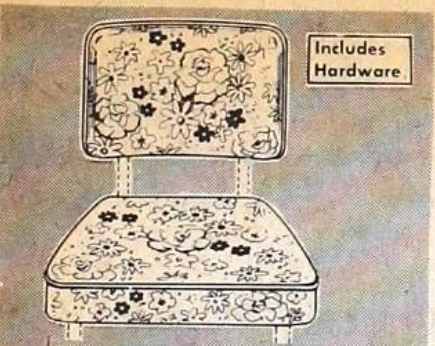

The State Department of Natural Resources has been engaged in an extensive fish stocking program for the Huron, with plantings of rainbow, brown trout, coho salmon and other game fish in 1975 and again this year.

Village marks Edison 'date'

Greenfield Village is commemorating the 100th anniversary of Thomas Edison's Menlo Park Laboratory with a special exhibit now through Nov. 7 in the Menlo Park Library. Titled "Menlo Park Centennial," the exhibit traces the development of two of Edison's lesser known, but nonetheless significant, inventions — the electric pen and the carbon telephone transmitter — from conception to contemporary use.

The evolution of the telephone also is highlighted in the exhibit. Alexander Graham Bell, of course, is credited with that invention. However, Edison, too, was on the threshold of discovering the principle of transmitting the human voice by wire when Bell staged the first public demonstration of his telephone in 1876.

Edison continued his experiments and eventually devised a carbon transmitter that proved to be far superior to Bell's magnetic device.

Today's telephones make use of those very principles, combining the Edison transmitter and the Bell receiver.

"Menlo Park Centennial" illustrates the independent work of the two inventors as well as their combined efforts on the telephone after 1879. Included are Bell's second telephone and Edison's first commercial telephone, circa 1879. Western Electric has supplied more modern equipment including one of the first dial telephones — 1910 vintage — and the more recent Trimline and call director models.

Although Menlo Park Laboratory is open throughout the year during regular Greenfield Village hours, its 100th anniversary offers visitors the opportunity to recall and appreciate the many Edison innovations that today make our lives more pleasurable.

There is no additional charge for "Menlo Park Centennial" beyond the regular Greenfield Village admission.

Try these tips for August

Summertime: Lawn chores keep coming

Summertime — and those lawn and garden chores just keep coming. Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest the following activities for August:

— Check maples and other trees for aphids. Look for mottled and curled leaves glossy with sticky honeydew. If aphids are present in large numbers and predators like lady beetles are scarce, control with malathion sprays every two weeks as needed.

— Do not fertilize trees and shrubs now. The resulting late growth would be susceptible to cold injury this winter.

— Bagworms are feeding on ornamentals now, but spraying won't control them. Hand pick the bags off and destroy them.

— Yellow leaves with green veins indicate azaleas are suffering from an iron deficiency. Iron chelates applied as a soil drench or foliar spray will help correct this.

— Check trees and shrubs transplanted in the past year or two to make sure they are not being girdled by guy wires. Any wire or nylon rope used around the base of a tree trunk in transplanting should be removed.

— Control lacebugs on sycamore and other ornamentals with Sevin, lindane or malathion. Take care using Sevin, it is highly toxic to honeybees.

— To produce larger flowers, remove some of the lateral buds and thin the side shoots on dahlias. Stake and tie the plants as necessary.

— Cut back perennials after the foliage has started to die.

— Treat powdery mildew on lilacs, roses, phlox and zinnias with Benlate, sulfur or karathane.

Home & Garden

— Transplant and divide peonies and phlox.

— Take cuttings from fuchsia, wax begonias, impatiens, geraniums and coleus for growing indoors this winter.

— Dig and divide garden lilies, if crowding has reduced size and vigor of blooms; and iris bulbs, if they haven't been divided for five years. Dig bulbs after the foliage and stems are dead. Replant in a well drained, prepared bed, discarding diseased or insect-damaged bulbs.

— Prepare beds for spring-flowering bulbs and order bulbs now.

— Do not fertilize roses after Aug. 15.

— Keep pinching old flowers and seed heads from flowering annuals to keep them from going to seed and producing no more flowers. Also pinch the tops of petunia plants to keep them short and bushy.

— Establish a new lawn or renovate an old one between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

— Fertilize established lawns in late August with a complete fertilizer.

— If white grubs and sod webworms are damaging your lawn, use chlordane for grubs and Sevin or diazinon for sod webworms. Use only according to label directions.

— Do not use lawn herbicides or weed and feed compounds containing silvex when the temperature is higher than 75 degrees F. This can damage the turf as well as landscape ornamentals.

— Remove the dead grass that has accumulated and matted down in your lawn.

— Prepare and seed bare spots in your lawn. Water daily during dry weather until the new grass is firmly established.

— Use Sevin to control the corn earworm and the European corn borer on sweet corn. Spray according to label directions.

— Thin plantings of fall vegetables planted last month.

— Plant beans, peas and beets for fall harvest.

— If fusarium or verticillium wilt struck your tomato plants this year, make a note to buy resistant varieties next year. Also make a map of your garden so you can rotate tomatoes and other crops to new areas of soil.

— Prune out raspberry and blackberry canes that fruited this year.

They will not bear again.

— Check tomato plants for tomato hornworms. Hand pick the worms and destroy them or spray with Sevin.

— Harvest onions for storage after their tops turn brown.

— Dig potatoes when the tops die.

— Harvest beans, cucumbers, lettuce, radishes, carrots and other vegetables as they are ready.

— Cover celery for 12 to 15 days to keep light off the plants and make the stalks grow paler.

— Check tomatoes for leafspot (Septoria), early blight (Alternaria), and late blight (Phytophthora) and spray, if necessary, with maneb or tomato sprays containing coppers.

Planting a new lawn?

Turn thought into action

If you've been thinking about planting a new lawn around your home, late August or early September is the time to turn thought into action.

According to turfgrass specialists at Michigan State University, Aug. 15-Sept. 15 is the best time to establish a new lawn in Michigan.

You also can seed a new lawn in the spring, the experts noted, but you're likely to have more trouble with weeds then. You can sod a new lawn at any time during the spring, summer or early fall, they added.

Follow the steps outlined below for successful lawn establishment:

— Improve your soil, if necessary. Add two to three inches of peat or sand to a heavy clay soil and one to two inches each of peat and clay soil to sand. Mix the added materials with the existing soil to a depth of six inches.

— Have a soil test run. Your county Cooperative Extension Service office will help you arrange for the test and interpret the results.

— Till the soil, removing rocks, building debris and other objects. Grade it, if necessary, to correct high or low spots and to make the ground slope gently away from the home and other buildings. Eliminate steep slopes whenever possible, they are difficult to establish and maintain. The soil line before sodding or seeding should be 1 1/2 to 2 inches below sidewalk, curb or driveway grade level. If the soil is not lower than the concrete, sod or thatch will soon build up and overhang sidewalks.

— Follow the recommendations of your soil test for lime and fertilizer. Work them into the top two or three inches of soil.

— Roll the seedbed to firm it, then rake the surface to provide a loose, smooth seedbed.

— Seed the lawn. Use one to two pounds of bluegrass per 1,000 square feet. A combination of three or four improved bluegrasses plus one-third creeping red or chewing fescue is recommended. Use a mechanical seeder to insure seed is spread evenly. For best results, divide the recommended quantity of seed for the area into two equal parts and seed twice, first across the area from east to west, then from north to south. Turfgrass seed is very lightweight, so seed on a calm day. Mixing seed with Milorganite or a similar material will help extend the seed for more even distribution.

— Rake the seed lightly into the top fourth-inch of the seedbed. Do not bury the seed — it needs light to germinate. After raking, roll to firm the soil.

— Mulch with 60 to 80 pounds of straw for every 1,000 square feet of lawn. Mulch keeps the soil moist so the seed germinates quickly. If you don't mulch, you may have to water several times a day.

— Water daily for three to four weeks. To prevent puddling and erosion, water lightly. This daily irrigation probably is the most important step in establishing a lawn, the specialists pointed out. Even a few hours of drought can kill young grass seedlings.

— When the grass is 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches tall, remove about half the mulch and apply one-half pound of nitrogen for every 1,000 square feet. Water the fertilizer into the soil to prevent its burning the foliage.

— Remove the rest of the mulch when grass is well established and begin mowing the new turf when the grass is 2 1/2 to 3 inches tall. Mow to a height of 1 1/2 to 2 inches.

— To avoid damaging the tender grass seedlings, hold off on broadleaf weed control with chemicals until the grass is well established. This is usually at least five to six weeks after the first grass emerges. Or you may wait until spring, if the weeds are not too thick. Most broadleaf weeds do not germinate in the fall.

Herbicide: Big gun in war with weeds

Properly used, herbicides can be a big gun in your war against the weeds. Improperly used, they not only may fail to stop the weeds but also damage desirable plants.

"The first step in using herbicides to control weeds is to know what the weeds are," said Al Putnam, Michigan State University weed control specialist. "Some herbicides are very selective, they'll kill only annual grasses, for instance. Using one of these chemicals on perennial broadleaved weeds would be a waste of time and effort."

On the other hand there are chemicals that will kill almost any plant. Using these carelessly may wipe out your vegetable garden or seriously damage woody ornamentals.

"So, know your weed and choose a suitable chemical," he summed up. "That won't guarantee success, however, unless you also apply the herbicide properly at the correct strength at the right time."

Environmental factors can influence how well the chemicals do their job, he pointed out. A heavy rain immediately after you've sprayed may wash a chemical off the foliage before it's had a chance to work. A herbicide that must be watered into the soil immediately after it's applied may evaporate and lose its effectiveness if you wait too long to irrigate.

Postemergence herbicides — those that kill weeds after they have germinated — usually are more effective on young weeds than older ones. If you wait too long after weeds have emerged to apply the chemical, control may not be a complete success.

"If you understand that herbicides are not miracle products and that many factors influence their effectiveness, you can make better use of them in your home weed control program," Putnam said.

Aralia is easy to grow

The Japanese Aralia (Fatsia japonica), is an easy plant to grow, if you can meet its requirements for cool growing conditions.

According to horticulturists, the ideal temperature range for the Japanese Aralia is 55-60 degrees during the day and a chilly 40-45 degrees at night. At higher temperatures, such as those in most homes, the plant needs increased humidity to keep the leaves from drying out.

It grows best near a sunny window, but it can survive in lower light. Too much light will cause the leaves to turn yellow.

A standard potting soil mix kept moderately moist at all times is recommended. Good drainage is essential to avoid root rot.

OSHA rules could cut migrant housing

Employees' homes on the farm would be subjected to governmental scrutiny and migrant agricultural workers would find less housing in Michigan, if the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) implements new regulations currently being established according to a Farm Bureau spokesman.

Farm Bureau affiliate, pointed out that state farmers now must comply with one state and two federal health and safety regulations for temporary agricultural labor camps. In addition, the intended laws would pertain to on-farm housing for permanent employees and year-round transient workers.

OSHA is going beyond the purpose the agency was established for. The rules in question would allow the government to intrude into workers' private lives. This intrusion would be discriminatory also because employees who worked at the same farm but did not live on its land would avoid such close inspection of their living habits. Because effective temporary housing laws already exist in Michigan, Buschlen feels that additional federal regulations would be confusing and a duplication of effort.

Cowboys prepare for Saline rodeo

Top cowboys and cowgirls will be converging on Saline, Mich., this weekend to take part in the 11th annual Saline Rodeo. Slated for 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday, the rodeo will be held at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds on Saline Ann Arbor Road at Pleasant Lake Road. Proceeds from the annual event this year will be used for community service projects. The Saline Rodeo is sanctioned by the International Rodeo Association, headquartered in Oklahoma. Live stock for the rodeo will be furnished by the J Bar J Rodeo Co. of Clare, Mich., for such events as Brahma bull riding, horseback and saddlebrone riding, cowgirls' barrel racing, calf roping, steer wrestling and trick riding.

String". Timed from the instant he is in the arena to when the calf is tied up, the run isn't official unless the calf remains tied for five seconds. Saddle brone riding is the most difficult of the rodeo's events since the horses used generally are bigger and stouter than those used in bareback riding. In this event the rider is judged for how well he spurs and the force for how well he bucks. Steer wrestling is the only event in which the contestant is allowed a helper—a hazer who keeps the animal running in a straight line until the wrestler can stop the steer.

Diversified tax, employment is county must

The need to diversify the tax and employment base in Wayne County and the urgency to plan now for job opportunities in the 1980s were reasons cited by three Wayne County commissioners for their appearance at a public hearing, conducted by State officials, on proposed port legislation.

Commissioners John Barr, Edgar Harris and Erwin A. Steiner Jr. testified in favor of impending legislation that would give waterfront communities the authority to set up independent port authorities, aimed at increasing both business and job opportunities.

The hearings, chaired by State Rep. Dennis Hertel, were prompted by a Riverfront Task Force report that urged the creation of a new Detroit-Wayne County Port Authority and the public financing of an ultra-modern port terminal.

Hertel and his committee are holding public hearings throughout the state to gauge public opinion on the report.

The task force, consisting of city, county and state officials and members of the private sector, issued a series of recommendations for waterfront development, but particularly emphasized the economic benefits to the state if the Port of Detroit were more adequately financed and promoted.

Since 1932, Wayne County has had the responsibility of monitoring port activity through its Port Commission.

Barr, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, said the county "did not wish to abdicate its responsibility for port development, but could in no way do the kind of job the riverfront 'master plan' called for."

"We simply don't have the finances — or even the legislative or internal structural ability — to carry out something of this magnitude," Barr explained. "We would welcome the state and the City of Detroit into a tri-government partnership."

Barr added that the Port of Detroit, being a service industry, offered new hope for employment growth in Wayne County which he described as having "the worst unemployment problem in the nation."

"Traditionally, we have been heavily geared to manufacturing, but automation has taken its toll in terms of numbers of jobs available," he said. "So we ought not to neglect job expansion in the service industries."

Harris told the Hertel Committee that in June the unemployment rate for Wayne County was 11.1 percent with a "staggering 115,775 people out of work."

He added that he supported extensive commercial and industrial development on the waterfront and inland "because that's where 85 percent of the working people of Wayne County draw their paychecks — and we've got the skill, experience and manpower to do better."

Steiner said he was there to say "build the terminal today."

"Don't delay and fool around with promotional campaigns first," he urged. "Build the new facilities now."

The parent stated that they would rather have their children attend Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Morris stated that he knew how upset they were but there was nothing that he could do about it. Mrs. Chandler and Mr. Bath stated that they thought that we should check into the possibility of bussing the children to Mt. Pleasant. Mrs. Chandler was advised that it was further to bus the children to Mt. Pleasant then it would be to Gordonier. Mrs. Chandler suggested that the Board check into the bussing of the children to Mt. Pleasant as a group and if that was not possible just the sixth graders. The Board was asked how often they met. Mrs. Chandler stated that they met two Mondays a month with perhaps the exception of the Christmas holidays.

The Board was asked by one of the parents why we did not order chocolate milk. The parent was informed by Mr. Janack that unless the Board directed him to do so he would never purchase chocolate milk. Mr. Janack stated that it caused too many problems.

Mr. Terry Bird, President, REA, voiced his concerns about the procedures used in terminating over 100 teachers, half before school was out and half terminated in the last two weeks. Mr. Morris stated that he would make an effort to answer his questions and call him as soon as possible.

One of the parents from the Harrison School Area accused the Board of handpicking and discrimination. Mrs. Chandler informed the parent that they were not handpicked but a group of people that were picked from a specific point in Romulus.

One of the parents asked the Board about the Lottery and monies received for education. Mr. Morris explained to the audience that we do not receive any monies from the Lottery for education. All monies collected from the Lottery go into the General Fund.

Purchase Recommendations - Continued: The Assistant Supt. for M & O asked the Board of Education to authorize the purchase of appliances for the North Jr. High School out of the 1973 Building and Site Fund. 'Unknown' wins Golf Championship

Wiekerak fires 141 for medalist honors

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Paul Wiekerak, an unknown to the Western Wayne golf area, stripped three strokes from par the first day and came back with a par 72 the second, to win the 1976 City Championship Golf Tournament held over the weekend at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Wayne.

The 25-year-old Grand Rapids native, who recently moved to Westland, fired a sizzling 68 for his first day of play to take a three-stroke lead over his nearest challenger, Wayne's Tom Piscopink.

Wiekerak "cooled" to a par 72 on Sunday while Piscopink turned in a one-over-par 73.

"I have never won any major golf tournaments," said Wiekerak who also earned the city title for Westland with his 141 total. "And I'm happy to win this one. There are some very fine golfers in this tournament."

Wiekerak, who played for the Grand Rapids Community College golf team and is presently a student at the Detroit Engineering Institute, was disappointed with his second round score.

"I had problems with the lies in the fairways," he noted. "I was really disappointed when I didn't break par the second day. But, that's what this game is all about — you just don't know what's going to happen."

A field of 133 golfers competed in the tournament, sponsored by the Wayne, Westland, Canton, Inkster, Garden City parks and recreation departments and co-sponsored by The Associated Newspapers.

Piscopink, the tournament champ two years ago, had his problems with his putter. That, he said, was one of his major obstacles.

"I hit the ball really well," Piscopink said, "but my putting was off, really off. Also, I knocked the ball in the water on the 10th and took a double bogey on the 7th hole."

Chasing Piscopink for the Wayne title was Ray Ostyn who shaved one-stroke off his first day total of 75 to wind up with a two-day score of 149, five strokes behind Piscopink.

"It was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way," Ostyn said. "And the putting kept it close."

Piscopink also became the inaugural recipient of the Lenny Anderson Memorial Golf Trophy. The travelling trophy is awarded to the medalist of the Wayne Championship Flight.

Patrolman Anderson was the first Wayne police officer to be killed in the line of duty. Patrolman Anderson was dispatched to an attempted suicide scene and was gunned down. The slaying occurred in April of 1974.

On hand to present the trophy was Anderson's widow, Pam, and patrolman Bill Whitworth represented the Wayne Police Officers' Association, the group that donated the impressive trophy.

"I knew Lenny, he was a personal friend," said Piscopink. "And I'm more than happy to accept this trophy in remembrance of him."

In the duel for the third Canton city title, Paul Deedler emerged with a first round score of 75, then came back for a 74 the next day to capture medalist honors. His 149 total was four-strokes better than perennial contender Kevin Pollock who was tied with Deedler with the lead the first day but dropped four strokes back the second.

Inkster's defending champ, Jim Wydick, was forced to hand over his title to challenger Lacy Hill — but only after a "sudden death" playoff.

Wydick, who shot a 76 the first day, lost his one-stroke lead over Hill when the champ turned in an 80 the next day. The two wound up with identical 156 totals.

Both golfers parred the first hole of the playoff, however, while Wydick bogged the second, Hill came back and took a par to win the title.

"Putting kept me in the game today," said Hill, a seasoned golfer who hails from North Carolina and is presently a supervisor at the General Motors plant in Willow Run. "However, my second shots were killing me."

Angelo Bertucca, the defending champ out of Garden City, also lost his crown to challenger Mike Gordon who strung together rounds of 73 and 77 for a 150 total.

Gordon finished four strokes ahead of Bertucca, who dropped five strokes behind (78) after the first round and carded a 76 for the second.

The two-day tournament was played under ideal golfing conditions.

"The tournament is getting better and better with each year," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "The course was in great shape and there were only a few complaints."

"And I think we can resolve any problems we had this year next year," he added.

Bill Kelley, head golf coach at Cherry Hill High School, usually doesn't pass up a good golf tournament.

But the veteran golfer was forced to the sidelines of the 1976 City Golf Championship.

Kelley, who earlier last week decided to get in shape for the city meet by playing a round at Fellow's Creek, played only the first hole before he began complaining about dizziness and headaches.

We returned home and decided to go to the hospital where he underwent diagnostic tests.

"Bill seems to be all right," said Dink Funnert, who replaced the "no show" Kelley. "The doctors at Mt. Carmel haven't pinpointed the illness as yet but I figure he'll be home later this week."

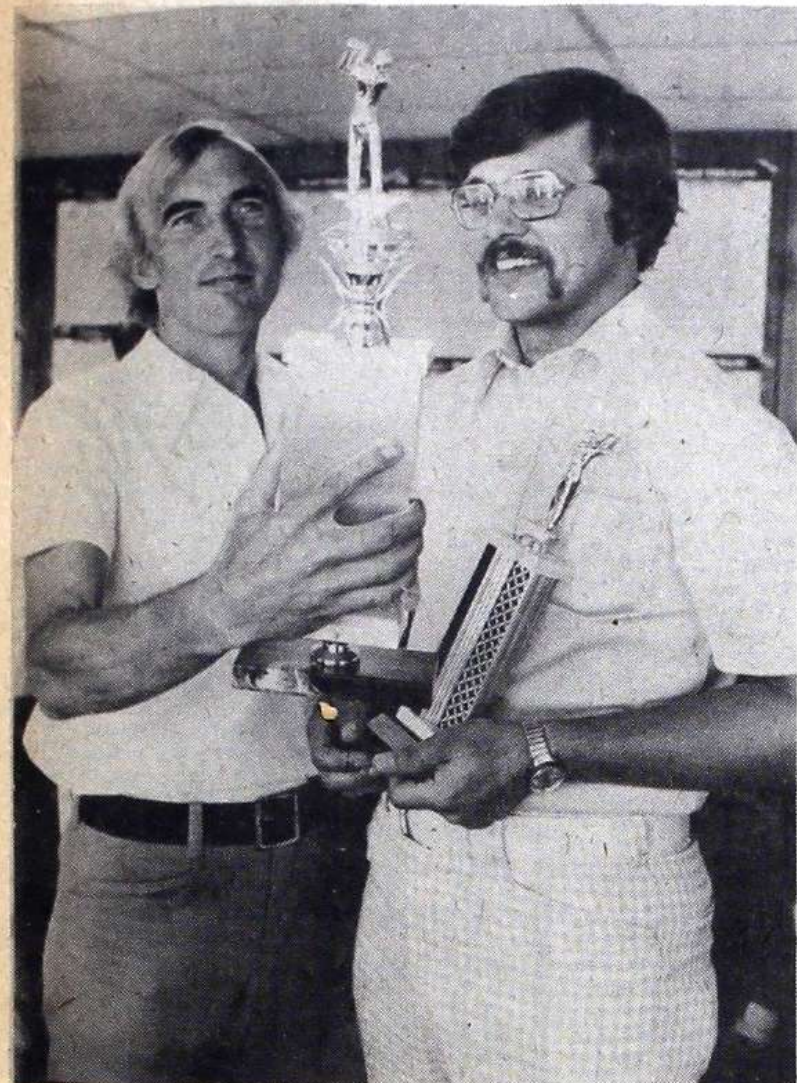

Dick didn't fare too well — let's not mention the score, he said.

One of the youngest golfers to ever compete in the City Championship Golf Tournament has to be 13-year-old Gary Baker.

Gary, who happens to be the green's keeper and Jim Baker's son, proved he isn't a stranger when it comes to driving or putting.

He whacked his tee shot out of sight and Tom Davey, who was in the foursome, moaned — "We're going to have to keep our eyes on him."

And you got to be thankful to guys like Hawley, Bill Whitworth, Jim Tennant who kept the tourney running smoothly. These men, along with Carl Morton, Fellows Creek manager, Baker, and the parks and recreation workers — made this tournament one of the finest ever.

Coveted prize

Paul Wiekerak (at right), a newcomer in the area from Grand Rapids, receives congratulations and the medalist trophy from Bill

Hawley, tournament director, after Wiekerak posted a 36-hole, 141 total at Fellows Creek to capture the 1976 City Golf Championships.

'Wounded' Belleville still alive in Babe Ruth Tourney

Wounded — but not fatally — Belleville continued its bid for the Michigan Babe Ruth District Tournament title earlier this week after losing to a strong Birmingham contingent 6-1.

Belleville bounced back in the double-elimination tournament it is hosting by beating Washington Armada 8-3 behind the pitching of Mike Sampson and reliever Dave Vaughn.

The tournament, played at the Beck Road diamond, near North Junior High, just north of I-94, was to resume Monday, weather permitting.

The championship will be staged 2 p.m., on Thursday. Going into this week's action, Birmingham and Grosse Pointe and Lansing carried 2-0 records.

The winner of the local tournament will advance to the regional playoffs scheduled for next week in Anderson, Ind.

Belleville ran up against a hard-throwing Birmingham hurler, Tom Maybee, in its debut and Maybee twirled a one-hitter, struck out three and walked two to record a 6-1 victory.

Maybee's bid for a shutout and a no-hitter was ruined by Mike Sampson who drilled a sixth-inning single. He was stranded on base.

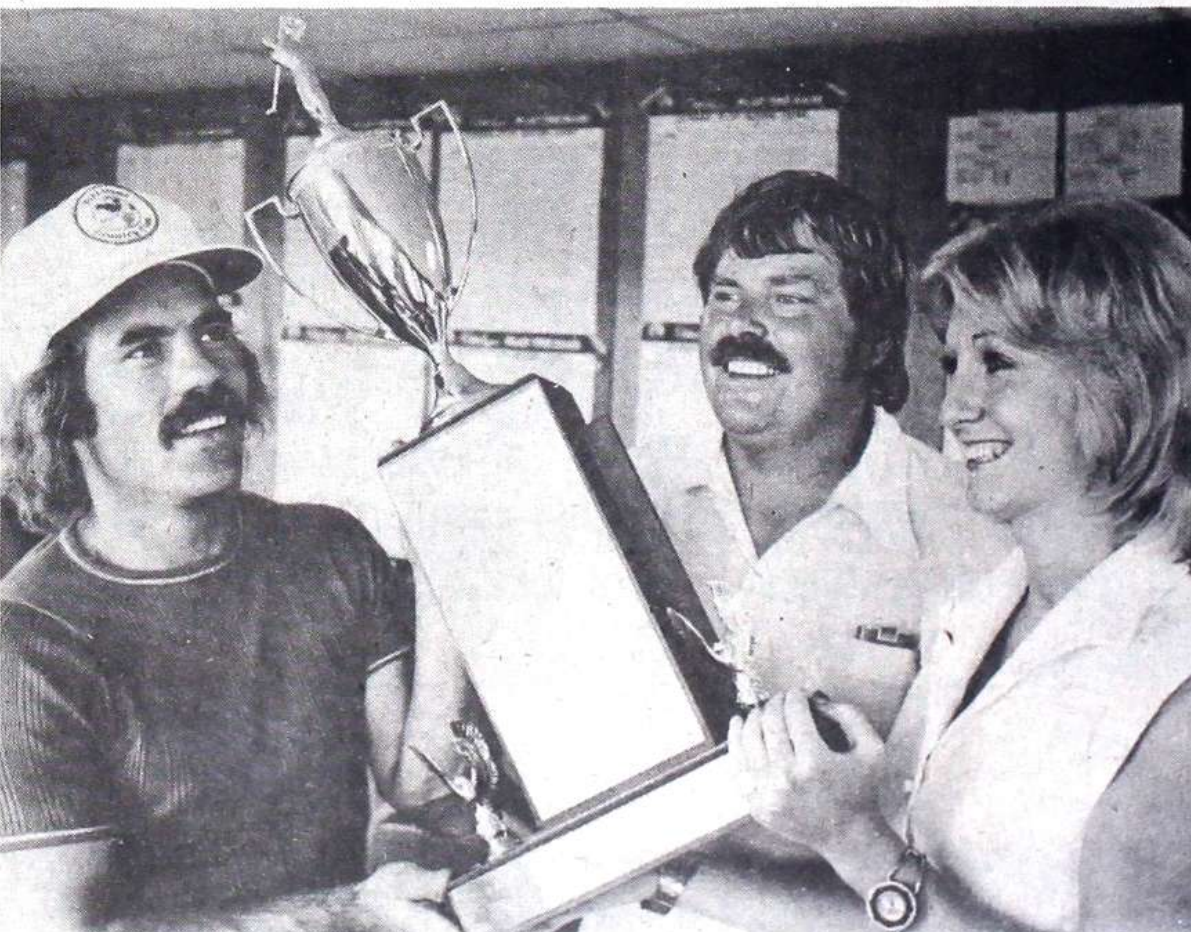

Belleville's run came in the third inning when starting pitcher Ken Fuller walked, moved to second on a fielder's choice, and advanced to third on a passed ball. When a pickoff attempt backfired, Fuller raced home.

Belleville looked impressive in its second outing as Mike Sampson checked Armada 8-3. Sampson worked the first four innings, fanned three and walked four before yielding to reliever Dave Vaughn who finished up. Vaughn allowed one run on three hits.

Losing pitcher Kevin Maas, who lasted five innings, gave way to Ron Goral who finished up.

Belleville struck for four runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings as Ron Meisier and Bill White split four hits — all singles — between them.

Lenny Anderson Memorial Golf Trophy

Patrolman Lenny Anderson, the first police officer ever to be killed in the line of duty in Wayne, was remembered at the 1976 City Golf Championships by his friends who donated a memorial trophy in his honor. The inaugural recipient of the travelling trophy is Tom Piscopink who shot a 144 to capture top honors for the City of Wayne. On hand to present the trophy to Piscopink is Anderson's widow, Pam, and patrolman Bill Whitworth, representing the Wayne Police Officers' Association. The impressive trophy will be awarded annually to the Wayne medalist. Anderson was shot in April of 1974 answering an attempted suicide run. He died in May of that year.

By Gordon Charles

It was quiet there on the river except for the familiar sounds a fly fisherman expects to hear. The only foreign sound was the soft "swish, swish, swish" of the fly line as it curved gracefully and carried the fragile leader and its feathered lure on exploratory probes along trout cover.

A little red squirrel peered out at the intruder, then chattered angrily from the overhanging cedar tree. He soon scampered to thicker cover. A bit farther upstream a fat raccoon poked around in the water close to shore where it was shallow, seeking some choice morsel of food.

Overhead, a trio of bank swallows darted to and fro chasing and catching insects brought out by the warm, muggy evening. I watched them and nodded approval as I considered what they must be doing to the mosquito population that was particularly numerous that evening. A little later, as darkness began to close in on the stream, the familiar call of the whip-poor-will drifted down from nearby.

Keeping an eye on the sky, I finally saw what had really brought me to the river. There they came, cellophane wings fluttering softly as they supported the slender yellow bodies with their long, twin tails. "Hexagenia limbata" is what the scientists call them but they are a species of giant mayfly more commonly called "caddis flies" by trout fishermen.

A caddis fly is really something else but at this season of year, who cares about such technicalities? The hatch was on and it soon became apparent that the trout knew it, too.

Dipping down to the water's surface to lay eggs, the graceful insects sometimes paused too long as the current carried them along. This oversight was what the trout had been waiting for and soon the river's surface was dimpled with feeding fish.

As the best of the action approaches, though, so does darkness and it then becomes a contest between the angler and the obstructions in the stream. You wait until you hear something other than a simple splash if it is a worthwhile trophy you seek. Little trout make those splashes; the really big ones only occasionally slurp. It is a sound that can really turn an angler on!

Dolphins dunked by Riverside

Still reeling from a devastating defeat at the hands of a powerful Riverside squad last Thursday, the Wayne Recreation Dolphins will attempt to get back into Suburban Six Conference contention tomorrow at a butterfly meet hosted by Riverside.

The Rebels dominated proceedings last week with 17 first places out of a possible 20 to amass 242 points and take over the undisputed Suburban Six lead with 19 season points.

Wayne, which was able to capture the other three first-place ribbons, finished with 180 meet points to bring its season total to 17.

Catherine Batterson, Mary Batterson, Kurt (Korky) Whitehead and Eric Head claimed a victory in the 11-12 mixed fly-bread 200-yard relay, while Sue Smith, Tracey Batterson, Joe Miles and Mike Kuhn teamed for a win in the 15 to 18 years old 200-yard mixed freestyle relay.

The Dolphins' only other first came from the team of Any Balwinski, Mark Newman, Rick Melanshek and Don Bolton. It was Bolton's first ribbon of the 1976 season.

Bobcats have 'The Team' in WYAA

With only one loss marring an otherwise perfect record, the Bobcats (16-1) earned the Central West Softball Divisional Championship in the Westland Youth Athletic Association this season. The champs went on to edge the East titlists 5-0, and claimed the National League championship by beating the Commanches 4-3. The Bobcat lineup included (kneeling, from left) Kim

2 Westland title races remain undecided

While Westland Sports Shop and Dennett's Auto Service have stashed away titles in their respective divisions, two divisional championships remain undecided in Westland Softball circles.

Westland Sports Shop made a farce of the Men's Major Division League title race as it amassed a perfect 17-0 record, whipping its nearest rivals, Studio Lounge and Kevin's Lounge by at least six victories.

Meanwhile, Dennett's clinched the Men's Minor League - Red Division championship thanks to an 11-1 won-lost ratio. The Raiders finished second with a 9-2 record.

The battle continues in the Women's League where Midas Muffler's has the edge over Lynn's Country Bar and Studio Lounge. The pacesetter is 8-1 on the year while Lynn's and Studio are a game back at 7-2.

Interior Reflection and Leaseway of Detroit continue their race for the Minor League - Blue Division title. Interior has the edge with a 9-1 record; Leaseway is one step down at 8-1.

Dennett's displayed its championship form on the Pedagogues as the division champ exploded for 10 runs in the first inning en route to an easy 15-3 victory.

Dennis Lupien's pair of triples - good for four runs batted in and Tim Ferrari's homer and single which drove in three RBI's highlighted Dennett's assault on losing pitcher Dave Downs who was tagged for 19 hits.

Winning pitcher Lupien gave up four hits, two of those to Lynn LeBlanc who had a perfect two for two at the plate.

In other Red Division action, the Raiders solidified their hold on second place with a convincing 21-11 victory over the Wayne County General lineup. Winning pitcher Vic Abdo handcuffed his rivals on a 13-hitter, giving up a perfect three for three to Rick Smolarch and three hits also to Skip Johnson who singled, tripled and homered.

Abdo helped his own cause with three hits that drove in three runs while teammate Jack Faber drilled a single, double and triple which counted for six RBI's and Dave Gorshek strung together three singles and a triple for four runs batted in.

George Smith Realty spotted Wayne Motor Supply 13 runs in the first inning, then unsuccessfully tried to get them back in a 21-14 letdown.

Smith's cracked three homers, one each by Jeff Gillespie, Jerry Madden and Rick Udman but it wasn't enough as Ron Halis managed to hang on to win.

Both Bob Mijal and Ron Fontana went four for five for the winners with Fontana collecting a pair of triples and singles. Mijal had a triple, double and a couple of singles which led to four runs; Teammate Bob Wilcox latched on to three singles, in as many appearances, for three RBI's.

Losing pitcher Paul Schnarr lasted one inning before giving way to Chuck Anzalone, while winner Ron Halis survived a 16-hit Smith hitting barrage.

Wayne Motor Supply broke open a close 3-1 game against Johnny's Union and won a 16-10 contest. Wayne scored six runs in the third but Johnny's got five of those back in the next inning and scored three times in the fifth to make it a 12-9 ball game.

Wayne came back to score four times in the bottom of the sixth pulling away for good.

Halis again was credited with the victory. He gave up 12 hits, three each to Mike Borders and Mike Wankel.

Loser Larry Fisher was tagged for 17 hits, including three by Mijal who homered, doubled and singled for a perfect three for three at the plate.

Over in the Blue Division, Leaseway of Detroit kept close on the heels of league-leading Interior Reflection with a 27-5 victory over Westland "J's".

Can Wayne '9' finish perfect?

Though the Wayne Class D baseball title race is settled, the question whether unbeaten Wayne II can finish the season with an untarnished record remains unanswered.

Wayne II has a perfect 10-0 record and doesn't have anything to worry about. Its nearest rival, Wayne III, trails far behind (5-5).

Wayne II jumped on Wayne I 10-3 as Mark Yurich drilled a grand slam home run in the first inning off of losing pitcher Mark Solarz. That staked the winners to a 7-0 lead and they were never in trouble.

Yurich's teammates Wes Scott, Mike Plungis and John Vincil each checked in with two hits.

Winning pitcher Doug McGill, who worked six innings, gave up four hits, struck out 10 in chalking up the win. Al Rodgers accounted for two of the loser's hits while Mike Gwizdak and Jeff Tollison got the other two.

Wayne I tossed a six-hitter as the league-leader knocked off Wayne III 5-1. Don Canfield drove in two runs, belting a homer and single for the winner. Greg Pitt, Jim Canfield and John Vincil got the other three hits off of losing pitcher Bob McGinley.

Mike Paz, the winning hurler, scattered six hits, giving up a pair of doubles to Dave Herrst, a single and double to Dave Adams while striking out seven.

In the only other game involving the uncrowned champ, Jim Canfield turned in a one-hit pitching performance to set down Inkster 3-0. Canfield fanned 16 and allowed eight to reach base on balls.

Scoreless the first three innings, Wayne II broke the deadlock in the top of the third when it scored all of its runs. Keith Johnson and John Vineil hammered home runs off of losing pitcher, Bill Pavlak who was tagged for four hits.

Wayne III shook off a pesky Inkster team 6-2 as Larry Vojtkofsky picked up the victory. He whiffed nine and walked six in tossing a six-hitter.

Bill Palak got two of the six Inkster hits while Jack Slade, Wes Yee and Paul Sherlag each got one.

Vojtkofsky helped his own cause with a 2-run homer and Bob

Dolphins keeping sights on title

With a glimmer of championship looming in his sights, Wayne Recreation Dolphin Coach Jim McPartlin will send his best individual swimmers in each age and stroke categories against five other clubs tomorrow evening in the final 1976 Suburban Six Conference meet at Allen Park.

The meet, an individual battle (as opposed to all-relay could be the deciding meets in previous league competition), encounter of the 1976 season, with only Riverside and Wayne in contention for Suburban Six laurels.

Riverside staved off another last-half surge by Wayne last Friday to gain its third straight league victory and take a four-point lead into tomorrow's meet.

The Dolphins, after a relatively mediocre first 10 events, surged back with three first-place finishes and five seconds in the final 10 events—but, unfortunately, for Wayne, Riverside was equal to the task and finished with meet points of 232 to 194 for the Dolphins.

Wayne began its second-half move with a victory in the 11- and 12-year-old girls' fly-breast relay with the team of Sandy Burns, Diane Brown, Mary Batterson and Catherine Batterson. Then, after several close seconds, captured both the boys' and girls' combined-age (48) freestyle relays (in these events the combined ages of all four swimmers cannot exceed 48 years).

Gretchen Batterson, Lori Miles, Mary Batterson and Catherine

Batterson again prevailed for the girls, while Kurt (Korky) Whitehead, Todd Melanshek, Eric Head and John Lewandowski raced to the boys' win.

Both the Dolphins' open girls' and open boys' 100-yard individual medley relay teams finished close seconds to wind up the meet. The individual medley relay consists of four swimmers each doing one length of each competitive stroke.

Those second-place ribbons went to Sharon Fontaine, Teri Discher, Jamie Thompson, Sandy Parker, Brad Rockman, Karl Staber, Mike Kuhn and Tom Brown.

The same girls' 11-12 team of Sandy Burns, Diane Brown, Mary Batterson and Catherine Batterson gave the Dolphins its initial first place in the 100-yard butterfly relay, while Gretchen Batterson, Jamie Thompson, Sharon Fontaine and Teri Discher combined talents for a triumph in the girls' 13-14 200-yard butterfly relay.

Other second places were won by Mike Egan, Todd Melanshek, Kurt (Korky) Whitehead, Eric Head, Sandy Parker, Kelly Batterson and Lorraine Shaffer (two each), and Tracey Batterson, Rene Whitson, Gretchen Batterson, Thelma Kew, Miss Thompson and Miss Fontaine.

Winning third-place ribbons were Kris Balwinski, Lori Shenk, Kelly Burnette and Kris Whitehead, along with a 10-under boys team of Keith Head, Ken Stack, David Reynolds and Mike Grueber with a pair of third-place finishes.

Year of the Dolphin

The Dolphins, a swim club sponsored by the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department in conjunction with the Wayne-Westland Continuing Ed. Program, will wrap up another successful season on Aug. 13 by participating in its Junior Olympics. The more than 150 young swimmers will be swimming against one another in different age groups. Above, some of the group take time out to pose for our photographer before starting practice. The team is coached by Jim McPartlin, Wayne Memorial High's head coach who is assisted by Dirk Johnston and Dave Santure.

Wayne '9' eyes undefeated season

McGinley came through with a pair of singles that drove home three runs.

Wayne III scored seven times in the last inning to jolt Inkster 12-6. Vojtkofsky again was the winning pitcher as he notched nine strikeouts, walked nine and gave up six hits.

Dave Herrst stroked three hits and drove in three runs and Dave Adams also laced three singles while Steve Morris's single counted for two of the Wayne runs.

Chris McCosky homered for the losers while teammate Pawlak picked up two singles.

Wayne III turned back Wayne I, 7-3 on Delvin St. Anrione's three-hit pitching effort. St. Anrione got into trouble in the fourth inning when he gave up three runs, two of those on Mike Wilson's homer. The losers also received a run-scoring double from Jesse Spangler.

Wayne I used Jeff Tollison on the mound until the sixth when he was removed for Solarz. Tollison gave up six hits, struck out 8 and walked five. He was also charged with five of the seven runs scored.

Inkster hung on to a 5-3 victory over Wayne I after blowing a three-run lead. The winners tallied three times in the first inning off of losing pitcher Mark Solarz who was tagged for five hits. However, Wayne retaliated for two runs in the second inning and scored once in the third to make the game close.

Craig Trosien was the winning pitcher, also serving up five hits. Trosien struck out nine, and walked five.

Pat Houlihan, hammered a two-run homer for the winners and mate Mike Snyder belted a pair of singles while McCosky and Les Neville got the other two hits.

Canton playoffs hit with upsets

The Canton Township post-season softball playoffs started with and ended in "a bang."

Though there were no surprises the first night - it was a different story after the initial encounters.

In the first round, Perlengo out-clasped Latin Quarter 14-5, Plymouth Equipment struggled past last place Good's Nursery 12-8, Massey squeaked past K-Mart 14-13, and Deer Creek beat even-rated Meijer's 10-9.

Upsets were the name of the game of the following night though. First, Perlengo knocked off Smith Realty 7-6, and then Dearborn Fabricating beat Plymouth Equipment 19-18. In the twilight games Star Furniture edged Massey 10-9, and Deer Creek easily took care of shell-shocked Clark Block 19-5.

Perlengo jumped ahead of Smith Realty 3-1 in the second and held on for a key victory. Jon Lash reached two on an error by Bufe at 1st, Doyle Gates singled to drive him in, Lynn Mida singled Gates home, and Robin Williams drove in Mida with a single.

Larry Lebo hit a solo homer in the third for Smith, but Perlengo still held a 7-2 lead going into the last inning. Little, squatty-body Tom Yack, not known for his bat, hit a grand-slam for Smith in the seventh, after Ron LaPorte, Greg Fryling and Findlayson each singled to load the bases.

But it wasn't enough as the next two men made easy outs to preserve Perlengo's victory.

Star Furniture jumped in front of Massey 3-1 in the first on a solo home-run by Tom Davis, a single by Doug Ryan, and a 2-run homer by Bob Slusarski.

It was a see-saw battle all the way, as the lead changed hands many times. Mike Hanlon hit a 3-run-homer in the fifth to put Massey ahead 6-5, but Star tied it in the bottom half when Slusarski singled in Bill Warren, who had singled.

Star went ahead 10-7 in the seventh, and it looked like Massey would catch them in the bottom half when Sandy Black reached base on an error, and Mark DeRoche drove him in with a home-run to make it 10-9.

But that was all Massey could manage, as they now move to the losers' bracket.

Dearborn Fabricating and Plymouth Equipment had a real barn-burner, as Fab prevailed in another see-saw battle. Plymouth banged out six runs on only five hits in the bottom of the 6th to go ahead 16-11, but Fab picked up 8 more in the 7th to make it 19-16, and they held on for the win.

Sluggers for Fab included Bob Ashton with 4 safeties, including 2 doubles, Dan Divito with 2 homers, and Bill Nelkin and Joe Perko with one home-run apiece.

Pete Curvin had four singles for the losers.

Deer Creek had an easy time with Clark Block, 19-5, as Clark hadn't gotten over their slaughter from Little Caesar two nights earlier, 34-3. Paul Hebel and Kevin Shaw each homered for Deer Creek.

Caesar's captures 'B' title

Little Caesar left no doubt in anyone's mind who is the softball king in the Canton Parks and Recreation Department's "B" Division.

Caesar's thrashed Clark Block 34-3 to claim the title.

Gary Truskowski led off the game with a home run which set the pace for Caesar's which went on to the lopsided victory.

Caesar's however, hit only one more home run, when Claude Tunison blasted a 3-run shot in the fourth before he was spiked at second base and forced to leave the game.

Clark gave up early as Caesar's kept hitting line-drives all over the place throughout the game. The seventh inning was the salt in the wounds when Caesar's picked up 17 runs on 15 hits, sending 21 men to the plate.

Truskowski and John Raimier each picked up five hits for the winners.

Clark Block got its only runs in the fifth when Joe Jakubowski and Ken Denit singled, Al Turri doubled them both home, and Rick Paulun singled in Turri.

The victory gave Caesar's the B Division title and a berth in the Inter-City Tournament in Allen Park, set for Aug. 23rd.

Clark Block goes right into the Canton post-seasons tournament with 11 other teams to decide the Canton runner-up. Trophies will be awarded to the winner of the double-elimination tournament. Meanwhile, Mobil Lounge and Moeller finished in a tie for first place in the Canton Women's Slow Pitch Softball League and in their playoff, Mobil prevailed, 12-6 in a real thriller.

The two met Tuesday night in the rain and Moeller appeared to have an easy victory but, as they went into the 4th inning with a 10-2 lead, the rains came harder, and the game was washed out.

The next evening, Moeller came out strong again in the first with five runs, highlighted by a 2-run homer by Brenda Pollack.

But Mobil picked up one in the second, as Donna Ramsey singled in Kathy Hibler, who had doubled. Then, in the 4th, Mobil struck hard with five runs to tie it at 6-all. Lee Jaskolski singled in a run, Cheryl Caughey walked with the bases-loaded for another run, and Beth Smith doubled to clear the bases.

The suspense ends—golf champs crowned

The best in Wayne

Though he missed the City Golf Tournament for the first time in many years, Wayne Councilman Ken McKee (at right) was around Sunday to hand out trophies to the Wayne championship flight. McKee presented the medalist (from Wayne) trophy to Tom Piscopink (second from right) who also won the inaugural Lenny Anderson Traveling Trophy. Also in the winner's circle are Ray Ostyn, runner-up in Wayne, and Mike Brown (at left) who also is a Wayne Councilman.

A new king in Inkster

One of the closest battles for a city title occurred in Inkster when defending champ Jim Wydick (at right) surrendered the golf throne to Lacy Hill who emerged from a two-hole "sudden death" playoff as the winner. Presenting the champ his first place trophy is Ron Wolkowicz (at right), representing the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department.

'Unknown' is a winner

The "unknown" quantity became the quality of the City Golf Championships as newcomer Paul Wiekierak (second, from left) made his debut a winning one. Wiekierak carded a three-under-par 141 to capture the coveted medalist honors and also earned the city title for Westland. Presenting the city trophy to the 25-year-old former Grand Rapids Community College golfer is Chuck Pickering, representing the Westland Parks and Recreation Department. Finishing second to Wiekierak in Westland was Dan Schewe (center) while Murray Brooks was third.

Dethroned champ in Garden City

150' total was four better than the second-place finishing Bertucca's, while Dick Reed (at right) finished third, six-strokes off the champ's pace.

'Gotcha'

When Inkster parks and Recreation officials finished up their figuring, they awarded third places to James Jackson who had posted a "sudden death" victory over Chuck Sosna. Then walked in Jim White and said, "hold it", that trophy belongs to me. And proved it by flashing a 158 total, beating out Jackson and Sosna who carded 161s. The error was corrected and White (above) has the trophy.

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

The best place to get straight information about used cars is from the people who own them—your friends, relatives, and even your neighbors. If you are thinking about a compact sedan like the one in your neighbor's driveway, ask him about it. But be prepared to ask specific questions about such things as riding comfort, gasoline mileage, and recent repairs. If you simply ask, "How do you like the car?" you may get almost any kind of answer. Ask, however, what the bills are like that the owner has had to pay on the car.

If you are looking for parts and accessories for foreign cars, visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster! We feature a complete line of parts for both foreign and domestic cars. Know as the "house of a million parts", our vast inventory includes everything from gaskets to mufflers. We also have a complete machine shop for grinding valves, turning brake drums, and rebuilding engines. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M. Make KOSIN'S your headquarters for all auto parts and accessories!

HANDY HINTS:

When buying car insurance, be a comparison shopper, and find a company that will design a policy for your needs.
